CORONATION OF THE TZAR.

Splendid Ceremonies at the Ancient Capital of Russia.

A MAGNIFICENT PROCESSION.

The Emperor and Empress Enter Moscow Amid the Pealing of a Hundred Bells and Gorgeous Pageantry—Impressive Ceremonies.

Moscow, May 21.—The great triumphal entry of the Emperor and Empress into Moscow occurred to-day. Until to-day, the Emperor has not officially been in the city.

In order to see the imposing spectacle thousands of anxious sightseers thronged the streets all last night and early secured places of vantage. Indeed, at 8 o'clock it was difficult to move about. The roadway along the line of the route had been thickly covered with sand, and the wretched pavement buried some inches deep. Every class of costume was visible among the crowds, and any one skilled in the characteristics of Russian peasantry could have readily indicated from what part of the Empire the different groups of spectators had come, so varied were their dresses.

Street Decorations.

The street was gay with the trappings of the Venetian masts which bore shields on which were alternately inscribed the arms of the Russian provinces and the monograms of the Emperor and Empress. No traffic was allowed on the line of procession after 3 o'clock this morning, and at an early hour troops were marched to line thickly both sides of the roadway over the entire route.

For many weary hours the myriads of spectators of every rank and class who lined the route and filled the tribunes, pavilions, platforms and balconies, sat or stood in their places waiting for the great event of the day, while the solid soldiers after clearing the roadway, kept the masses in their places.

At 2:30 o'clock the cannon boomed, followed by eight other shots. This was the signal for every bell in Moscow to fall forth and in an instant, led off by the bells of the Ivan tower in the Kremlin, an indescribable jangle of the hundreds of bells in this much belled city broke upon the ear.

A Gorgeous Scene.

The Emperor had left the palace and the procession had started. It was probably the most gorgeous scene that Moscow had ever beheld.

The cortege was headed by three squadrons of Circassians and Don Cossacks in brilliant scarlet uniforms. At their head rode on a black horse, Prince Dolgoruki, grand master of the ceremonies, in full uniform, followed by his escort and mounted drummers and trumpeters of the horse guards.

The Cossacks were followed by a field marshal leading a squadron of the Tzar's Hussars of the Guard, one company each of the guard regiments of Pavlovsk, then a squadron of dragoons in dark green, followed by grenadiers with ancient helmets, engineers and chasseurs. After them came squadrons of Hubo troops, the standards of the various provinces of the empire, banners of the army and navy, trade guilds, huntsmen, court official dignitaries in gorgeous costumes. Then, preceded by the Imperial Grand Marshal Count Pahlen and two squadrons of cuirassiers with eagle crested helmets, the Emperor himself appeared dressed in the full general's uniform of the Preobajensky regiment of guards.

Cheering the Tzar.

The Emperor, who looked very well, constantly bowed his salutations to the cheering multitude, who upon the first sight of His Majesty, raised a shout peculiar to the Russians, which is a prolonged roar. This was taken up on all sides and swelled to a perfect hurricane of sound. The Tzar rode a pure white horse, and was immediately followed by various members of the Russian Imperial family, foreign sovereigns or their representatives, ministers of the household, the ministers of war and the generals and officers of the suite, a gorgeous throng in glittering uniforms. Behind them rode the generals and aides-de-camp of the Emperor and those attached to the suites of the foreign princes and representatives. Preceded by a regiment of grenadiers attached to the palace, came the Empress in a magnificent gilded state carriage, drawn by four pairs of cream-colored horses, flanked by two esquires-at-arms and guarded in the rear by two Cossacks. Similarly escorted came coaches bearing princesses and ladies of the court, their attendants and ladies of honor. Court chamberlains and gentlemen in waiting followed the carriages. Then came detachments of five regiments of the guards, two squadrons of cavalry, a squadron of cuirassiers bearing lances, a squadron of uhlans and finally numerous mounted masters of ceremonies.

Moving to the Kremlin.

The crowd closed in at a respectful distance behind the procession, and all movement was then toward the Kremlin. On arriving at the Iberian chapel, at the entrance of the Chinese town, the Emperor alighted from his horse, and with the Empress ascended the steps to the shrine where he was received by the priest of the chapel with the cross and holy water. The appearance of the Czar was the signal for the firing of cannon, the ringing of bells and cheers from the people. The Emperor and Empress with their immediate suites worshiped successively in the cathedrals of the Assumption of the Archangel Michael and the Annunciation, where te deums were sung.

As the cortege entered the capital a salute of 21 great guns was fired in obedience to a signal from the top of the Arc De Triomphe and was immediately repeated upon a signal from the top of the belfry of the Iver and the steeple of the tower of Ivan Velitki.

Within the Capital.

The Emperor upon entering the capital was received by the governor general of Moscow, mounted and escorted by officers and aides. The governor general was joined by the Emperor's suite. Upon entering the Zemlainot the Emperor was received by the mayor and the council of the city of Moscow, delegates of the Chamber of Commerce, a committee of artisans, representatives of the different companies with distinctive signs, representatives of the Bourse, all formed into a committee of reception.

Inside the Kremlin the imperial party with the foreign princes dismounted at the gate between the steeple of Ivan Velitki and the cathedral of the Archangel Michael and entered the cathedral of the Assumption by the southern gate, preceded by the grand master of the coronation ceremonies and the grand marshal of the court.

In the hall of St. Vladimir, the Emperor and Empress received the benediction of the arch priest of the cathedral of the Annunciation, and afterwards the imperial party traversed the halls of St. George and St. Alexander and the throne hall, where most of the party remained, to the hall of St. Catharine, where none but those intimately connected with the imperial household were permitted to enter.

At the moment of the entry of the imperial party into the Kremlin a salute of 101 guns was fired by a special battery by the commandant of Moscow. The bells of all the churches in the capital were kept ringing throughout the day.

Magnificent Pageantry.

It is impossible to describe the gorgeousness of the scenes in the streets under the brilliant sunshine. The windows of the houses along the route of the procession and the street pavements were literally packed with people, and even the trees lining the road near Petrovsky palace were filled with sightseers. The troops in their gala uniforms, in marching to their respective positions, and the hundreds of exalted personages comprising the guests, were cheered by the crowd. Everything was life, movement and color. Bands of music played along the whole route. On the pavements the first row on each side of the road was filled with well-known people, musical bodies, guilds, school children, Red Cross nurses, etc. The British consulate, the only consulate located along the route of the procession, was handsomely decorated with Russian and British flags. The utmost courtesy was shown to members of the press, whose badges enabled them to go everywhere.

FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

Yesterday's Proceedings in the Senate and House.

Washington, May 21.—In some respects the proceedings in the Senate to-day were suggestive of the closing days of a session. Conference reports were being considered and acted upon during most of the day. First came the river and harbor bill; and after a short discussion the report was formally disagreed to, in order to have an item regarding Brunswick harbor, Georgia, restored to the bill. Later in the day the report was again presented with the Brunswick matter arranged satisfactorily, but with the items as to the deep sea harbor in Southern California still undisposed of in conference. The report was agreed to as far as it went, and a new conference was ordered on the San Pedro and Santa Monica question.

The conference report on the legislative bill was presented and was availed on account of provisions as to Circuit Court clerk and as to the appointment of a register of copyrights. The report was disagreed to and the bill again sent to conference.

A partial conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was agreed to and further conference ordered and subsequently a second report was presented and went over till to-morrow.

The conference on the sundry civil bill was presented and agreed to.

The calendar of appropriation bills having been cleared off, Mr. Butler of North Carolina thought that the opportune time had come for getting before the Senate his bill prohibiting the issue of government bonds without the consent of Congress and he made a motion to proceed to its consideration. Immediately Senators Hill of New York and Chandler of New Hampshire commenced a series of obstructive measures by which they were successful in preventing a vote on Mr. Butler's motion. The strength of the support, however, was indicated by the vote on Mr. Chandler's motion to proceed to the consideration of executive business, which was: Yeas, 12; nays, 51; and all subsequent votes preserved that relation.

During the filibustering proceedings Mr. Hill and Mr. Allen of Nebraska, interchanged remarks not entirely consistent with Senatorial courtesy. The obstructive tactics prevailed to the extent of forcing an adjournment, without a vote on Mr. Butler's motion to take up the bill which he is to renew to-morrow.

The Senate at 6:25 p. m. adjourned until to-morrow.

HOUSE.

Washington, May 21.—By the vote of 166 to 6, the House to-day passed over the President's veto, the bill granting a pension of $50 a month to Francis E. Hopper, late of the Twenty-third Indiana regiment of volunteers. A debate of two hours preceded the vote. Messrs. Kirkpatrick (Rep.) of Kansas; Wood (Rep.) of Illinois, and Willis (Rep.) of Delaware advocating the passage of the bill, and Messrs. Erdman (Dem.) of Pennsylvania, Loud (Rep.) of California, and Bartlett (Dem.) of New York in favor of sustaining the veto. All the Populists and Republicans generally voted for the bill, and the Democrats against it. The following Republicans voted to sustain the veto: Messrs. Loud, Raney of Missouri, Quigg and Wadsworth of New York, and the following Democrats to pass the bill: Messrs. Cockrell of Texas, Cummings of New York, Layton and Sorg of Ohio, and Stokes, Strait and Talbert of South Carolina.

This was preceded by a half hour's statement by Mr. Grosvenor (Rep.) of Ohio, regarding a telegram from Washington to the Cincinnati Tribune, which "lined him up with the Reed men," in voting to oppose the reporting of any reciprocity bill from the Committee on Ways and Means. Passing by the "lining up with the Reed men," by the observation that he might be found in worse company, Mr. Grosvenor denied the report that there were any factions among the Republicans of the Committee on Ways and Means, asserting that they had acted as a unit upon all matters.

Consideration was begun of the Phillips labor commission bill under the special order agreed to yesterday, and its passage was advocated by Messrs. Phillips (Rep.) of Pennsylvania and Low (Rep.) of New York. The time for its discussion was extended until 4 o'clock to-morrow.

A resolution was agreed to directing the printing of 10,000 copies of the immigration bill passed yesterday.

At 5:10 the House adjourned until to-morrow.

NO AMENDMENT NEEDED

Commissioners Ask a Fair Trial for the Present Interstate Commerce Act.

Washington, May 21.—The Vice President this afternoon laid before the Senate the resolutions of the eighth annual convention of railroad commissioners held in this city May 19 and 20.

The commissioners protest against the change proposed to be made in the interstate commerce act by amending section 10 so as to eliminate imprisonment and provide punishment by fine only, as provided in a bill now pending in Congress. This section has only been given force and effect within a recent period by a Supreme Court decision, and the resolution asserts that it is better to give it a fair trial before changing its provisions. Discrimination in rates is the memorial asserts, a crime for which the railroad official and the shipper should receive the severest punishment known to the law. It is the opinion of the memorialists that if experience shows the law as now framed to be ineffectual and inoperative, greater and severer penalties should attach to its violation. For this reason, the memorialists state that they are opposed to any amendments to the interstate commerce law until it be so amended as a whole that under the light of the recent decisions, the rights and interest of the people in general are properly safeguarded under it; the duties and responsibilities of the carriers are carefully fixed and defined in it, and the power and the authority of the interstate commerce commission are properly established by it.

Heir to a Million.

Nashua, N. H., May 21.—Frank E. Burnham, a carpenter has received word from a lawyer in San Francisco that by the death of an uncle in California he has become heir to an estate valued at $1,000,000.

A DAY'S RECORD OF DISASTERS.

A Score of Persons Buried by Falling Walls at Buffalo.

SOME MORE KANSAS CYCLONES.

Disastrous Flood Impending Along the Mississippi River Warning at St. Louis—Northern Minnesota Reported Under Water.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 21.—A section of the Seneca street front of Brown's building collapsed at 9:20 o'clock this morning, burying a score of people in the ruins. George Metz, a barber, and Jennie Griffith, cashier in the barber shop, are dead; William P. Straub, a contractor, is known to be in the ruins, and a dozen others are more or less injured, one of whom will probably die.

Those at the hospital are: Jacob Langdon, barber, scalp torn and body contused; William Alexander, steam fitter, scalp wounds and body bruised; Jacob Rickman, barber, bruised about the stomach and head; L. H. Hawks, carpenter, skull fractured; may die; James Adams, mason, 52 Chandler street, scalp wounds and injured hip; Michael O'Brien, carpenter, wrenched back and scalp wounds; Joseph Dullard, plasterer, injured internally; Edward Murphy, plasterer, injured internally, right arm injured; Fritz Formal, German laborer, body bruised.

Filled With Offices.

Brown's building stood on the corner of Main and Seneca street, and for years the Western Union Telegraph company had occupied the ground floor corner as a business office, and all of the fourth floor as an operating room. The building was filled with offices, many of which were occupied and on the ground floor on both Main and Seneca streets were stores occupied by merchants.

The Western Union left the building a few weeks ago and the owners of the block began the work of remodelling and strengthening it. On the Seneca street side workmen were engaged in putting in place new columns and beams and new foundations for them.

Nos. 8 and 10 Seneca street were unoccupied, the principal alterations being made at that point. No. 12 was occupied as a barber shop by George Siener, and No. 14 by James Clegg's jewelry store, and Thomas Jones's news stand. The offices on the floors above were nearly all tenanted and altogether there was probably 60 people in the collapsed section. The walls fell with a crash, taking down roof and ceiling with them.

Fled for Their Lives.

In Siener's barber shop were nine barbers, the girl cashier and several customers. When the crash came all made a rush for the front door, but the falling bricks drove them to the rear, where an alley leads to Washington street. Those in front rushed into the alley, only to be met by falling rear walls, under which Metz was buried and killed. The others crouched in a corner of the shop until the avalanche ceased, when they made their way out. The cashier had her desk in the front of the shop behind a wire cage. She was unable to get out of it in time to join the others, and perished beneath the fallen walls.

The experience of the occupants of No. 14 was somewhat similar to those in the barber shop, but escaped without injury.

In Nos. 8 and 10 were probably 20 workmen, including steam fitters, iron workers, carpenters and plasterers, and it was here that the crash was greatest. Nearly all of the men were caught in the falling walls and floors and buried in the ruins. The tenants on the upper floors had many narrow escapes, but so far as known all of them succeeded in making their escape.

The commissioners of public works will make a thorough investigation of the accident.

Later, 12:40 a. m.—The body of a man about 28 years old, whose name is reported as Deigler, a laborer, was found by the searching party in the rear of the building.

MORE CYCLONES.

Much Damage Reported from Various Parts of Kansas.

St. Louis, May 21.—Specials from various points in Kansas bring details of disasters by cyclones last night.

At Arkansas City, Kan., settlers living in the strip five or six miles southeast of this city to-day report that three different cyclone clouds swept their sections of the country. No lives were reported lost, but much damage has been done to crops, and in the Drury cattle ranch, 20 head of cattle were killed.

At Emporia, Kan., about 6 o'clock last night a funnel-shaped cloud was noticed south of the city. This morning it is learned that a twister passed from southwest to northeast about five miles south of here and near the town of Olpe, passing directly over the ranch of Hughes Bros., tearing a portion of their dwelling house to pieces, and throwing it across the Santa Fe tracks. The barns, corn cribs and out houses were all blown away. William Hughes was caught in the wreck of the barn, and it is supposed that he is fatally injured.

At Burlington, Kan., a cyclone passed one mile west of the city yesterday evening, tearing down a building on the farm of W. H. Clark.

ST. LOUIS DELUGED.

A Heavy Rainfall and Warnings of Danger from the River.

St. Louis, May 21.—A climax was reached in the local storm at 6 o'clock tonight. The clouds that had dropped occasional showers all day centered over the city and a deluge of rain and hail fell. The hailstones were unusually large and considerable damage resulted. The river continues to rise rapidly. At 8 o'clock the water touched the 39-foot mark and is advancing. The government weather service sent out warnings to property owners along the river front and to-night hundreds of men are at work removing lumber and other endangered merchandise to places of safety. Every vessel in the harbor has steam up. It now seems assured that the disastrous floods of former years will be rivalled.

ALL UNDER WATER.

Minnesota Prairies are Transformed to Inland Seas.

Crookston, Minn., May 21.—Northern Minnesota is under water. There has been nothing like it for many years. The prairie has become a lake, and farms have been transformed into archipelagoes. The situation is truly discouraging for the large agricultural interests in the upper Red River valley, both in Minnesota and in North Dakota. One can start from Warren, Minn., in a boat and row to Hallock, 40 miles north, and not be obliged to portage the boat to exceed three miles for that distance.

When it is remembered that this country is unusually dry prairie, too dry at times for the best crop results, it is possible to catch a glimpse of the condition in that section at this time. The crop outlook is exceedingly unpromising in the northern counties.

Natural Gas Explosion.

Coffeyville, Kan., May 21.—A natural gas explosion occurred in this city this morning at 8 o'clock. Two buildings were wrecked, one man is dead and a number of people are more or less injured.

David Carter was found crushed to death. The following is a list of the injured, so far as learned:

Matt Atkins and Elisha Pursley (colored) are both thought to be fatally injured. Irvin, Maud Young, Logan Behom, Mrs. Morris and little daughter Katie, John Wilson, Joe Short, William Kime, William Stuckey, Leroy Cooper, George Walker.

SHOT BY MISTAKE.

A Greeley Student Was Supposed to be a Burglar.

Greeley, May 21.—[Special.]—Ernest Brownell, a student, taking him for a burglar, at about 11 o'clock last night, the victim dying without saying a word.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brownell, parents of the deceased, live in Greeley during the winter, and during the summer reside on their ranch, about five miles northwest of the city, near Seely's lake. This summer Mr. and Mrs. Bode Foster had rented a residence in the city. Mr. Foster working at his trade, that of a barber, in Robinson's shop on Eighth avenue.

Ernest Brownell, the boy who was shot, was 17 years old and is a member of the Greeley high school, and was in the graduating class this year. He had been out rehearsing at an entertainment for the cantata to be given by the class on May 26. He was also to deliver the response to the welcome of the class of '96 by Miss Florence Howard, of the class of '96. He had been riding to and from the farm residence and the school since their removal; occasionally sleeping at Foster's when obliged to remain in the city. He had taken supper there last evening, and Mrs. Foster told him to take the key of the front door, and that when she retired she would take her key out of the door.

Mrs. Foster retired about 9 o'clock, leaving her husband reading. Upon his retiring, at about 10:25, he locked all the doors, leaving the key in the front door, not knowing that young Brownell was to sleep there that night. Mr. Foster claims that he was awakened about 11 o'clock by a noise, and on getting up he got a revolver. The noise ceased and he sat down on the bed, when he again heard sounds at the back door, and started for the rear of the house. Then he saw a man jump from the back porch. He turned to his couch a third time, and again heard a noise at the front door. Pulling up his weapon he fired a shot, claiming that he sing'd high, just to scare the burglar. The shot awoke his wife, who asked him what he was doing. He answered that he had shot a burglar, adding that he thought the man run away. His wife asked him if Ernest had come in yet, and he called to his aunt, up stairs, who answered, stating that the boy was not at home.

During this time a groan was heard outside and Mrs. Foster hurried to the door and opening it saw a cap lying on the porch, when she exclaimed, "Oh, Lord, it's Ernest." Mr. Foster hurriedly dressed himself, and mounting his wheel summoned Drs. Graham and Hawes. The boy was carried into the house and died in a few minutes.

City Marshal Camp arrested Foster and put him in the county jail, and Coroner Mapy has summoned a jury. The inquest will be held this afternoon. This is a hard blow to the parents of the deceased, who lost two of their sons in Seely's lake a few months ago, also a baby, which was drowned in a ditch. Another child died of diphtheria, leaving them but one child, aged about 12. No funeral arrangements have been made as yet.

NUGGETS FROM CAMP.

A Signal Hill Transfer—Colorado King and Sheriff Showing Up.

Special to The Gazette:

Cripple Creek, May 21.—A group of claims located on Signal hill, comprising the Clipper, Louise and San Joaquin, were purchased to-day by A. N. Wycoff of Lincoln, Neb. The consideration is not stated. The claims purchased are one-half mile from the town limits of Cripple Creek, and have only been developed by ten-foot holes. The new owner will begin immediately and do sufficient work to obtain patents for the property.

The south end of the Colorado King on Globe hill, which is being worked under lease by W. T. Lowell, has been sunk on to a depth of 62 feet, and some very encouraging assays are being received. The shaft is going down at the intersection of two veins, and the lessee express the opinion that he will make a mine.

The Maggie Weymer group near the Lincoln mine at Gillett, owing to defaulted payments, has reverted back to Mr. Weymer, their former owner. The sum of $300 had already been paid on a bond and lease calling for $50,000. Mr. Weymer will now work the property on his own account, and will begin operations in earnest with a good force of men at once. There is a good showing in one of the shafts, which is 81 feet deep.

Some very good looking ore was encountered just as the miners were preparing to stop work to-night on a portion of the Sheriff ground known as the Curlington lease. They opened up a good looking vein at the surface which has been improving all the way down. The shaft is now down 20 feet and the ore blown into to-night shows some sylvanite. Some of the stuff is being saved for shipment.

NECESSARILY POSTPONED.

An Important Witness for the Government Fails to Appear.

Chicago, May 21.—The cases of John W. Hinchart, ex-president, and John A. Hanley, ex-traffic manager of the Santa Fe Railroad company, charged with violating the interstate commerce law, were continued to-day by Judge Grosscup until the October term of court, to give the government an opportunity to produce its witnesses.

The extradition were indicted by the Federal grand jury on the testimony of John G. Taylor, live stock agent of the Santa Fe road in 1892, for granting rebates to certain favored patrons of the road in 1892. Taylor was in the court room last Monday ready to give evidence, but the cases were continued until to-day. When the cases were called to-day Taylor was missing and could not be found.

District Attorney Black and Senator Shields of Iowa, representing the government, presented an affidavit setting forth the reasons for asking a continuance. It stated that Nelson Morris, wanted as a witness, is in Europe, and that W. P. Jenkins president of the Hammond Packing company, also wanted, could not be found, and was believed to be evading service. The defendants were charged with being in collusion with him. The affidavit asserted that the defense probably knew something about the sudden disappearance of the most material witness, Taylor.

Judge Grosscup refused to issue a bench request for Taylor's arrest, but intimated that if it was found at the October term that witnesses were being kept in seclusion by the efforts of the defense, there would be trouble.

ALL SOLDIERS OF THE CROSS.

Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists in Convention.

RECORDS OF THE PROCEEDINGS.

Moderator Booth Upholds the Westminster Confession—Baptist Publication Society at Asbury Park—Methodist Discussion.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 21.—The one hundred and eighth general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America opened its sessions here to-day in the First Presbyterian church with the usual sermon from the retiring moderator. Nearly 200 commissioners, half ministers and half elders, occupied seats on the floor of the auditorium and as many more ladies and visitors were crowded upon the floor of the auditorium. The service according to the book of discipline of the Presbyterian church began promptly at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Booth's sermon occupied more than an hour in the delivery. Dr. Booth upheld in eloquent words the theological system of the church, the much abused Westminster confession. He also extolled the system of the government of the Presbyterian church and its methods of evangelization.

Dr. Booth proposed a method of bringing the doctrinal troubles of the church to an end. He pleaded for arbitration, for brotherly confidence, for mutual concessions in the church over doctrines, over interpretation and over theological standards.

Promptly at 3 o'clock the general assembly was formally constituted by Dr. Roberts, Moderator Booth being in the chair, and the business of the session began.

The first attention was given to the election of moderator and nominations for that office were declared to be in order.

Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Cleland of Duluth presented the name of Francis C. Monfort of Cincinnati.

Rev. Dr. William H. Hubbard of Auburn, N. Y., nominated David R. Breed of Pittsburg.

Rev. John R. Davies of New York placed in nomination the name of John L. Withrow of Chicago.

The nominations were then closed. The vote for moderator was as follows: Monfort, 84; Breed, 102; Withrow, 215.

After the customary exchange of greetings the new moderator called for the report of the local committee of arrangements.

A gavel made of wood taken from the field of Burgoyne's surrender was presented to the moderator as coming from the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A customary temporary organization was then perfected and the assembly adjourned.

To-night the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the churches to all commissioners.

BAPTIST ASSEMBLY.

Affairs of the Publication and Historical Societies Made Known.

Asbury Park, N. J., May 21.—A steady rain this morning did not dampen the ardor of the Baptists who are here, to the number of 2,000 or more, and the auditorium was comfortably filled when President Cozle called the assembly of the Baptist Publication society to order. Prof. H. C. Vedder of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on Publishing Department, made the opening address and read the report of his committee. He was followed by the Rev. W. H. Geistweit of Minnesota, who reported for the committee on missionary department.

Ex-Senator Doolittle of Wisconsin urged the publication of a work on the United States of America in the light of prophecy as well as history. The Senator's proposition aroused opposition and was voted down.

Mr. George E. Stevens of Cincinnati said that a large proportion of the receipts of the publication society was from sales of publication of other houses. This caused a breeze and was denied from the platform. Mr. Stevens went on to say that the 800,000 Baptists of the North buy few of the books published by the society and read less.

H. S. Hopper reported for the financial committee that fully $500,000 will be needed in order to carry on the work as planned for the coming year.

The financial report showed that the total sales of the book department ending March 1, were $588,570, and the total receipts from all sources $579,501. The balance in the treasury was $3,701. The total assets are given as $1,023,191, the liabilities $58,356; net assets, $964,835.

At 4 o'clock the Publication society gave way to the American Baptist Historical society. Dr. Lemuel Moss of New Jersey presided. The old officers were elected. Rev. Dr. Philip L. Jones of Pennsylvania delivered the annual address, "An Imperilled Renaissance," as his text, and at 5:30 o'clock adjournment was taken.

Fully 3,000 people were present in the auditorium in the evening.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Further Proceedings of the National Gathering at Cleveland.

Cleveland, May 21.—The question of foreign episcopal residences came up on the motion to substitute Shanghai for Philadelphia. Many speeches were made on both sides. The substitute was tabled. This question of foreign episcopal residences is an important one, and will receive due attention at the hands of the conference in a day or two.

The following is the list of cities that will have episcopal residences: Boston, New York, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., New Orleans, Fort Worth, Cincinnati, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Topeka, Minneapolis, Denver, San Francisco, or Los Angeles.

During the debate on the foreign episcopate, Bishi Arad, lay delegate from Japan, made an earnest appeal for a bishop in Japan or China. He said that the church needed a bishop in order to help progress in those countries.

J. W. Hamilton and J. C. Hartzell were re-elected secretaries of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Education society on the first ballot.

An Important Conference.

New York, May 21.—The arrival in this city last night of Wm. M. Hahn, the Ohio member of the Republican national committee, occasioned much speculation among the Republican managers at the Fifth Avenue hotel as to the object of his visit. Mr. Hahn would give no information, but an incident that occurred at the hotel this morning satisfied the politicians that he had come here to have a consultation about the Vice Presidential nomination.

Gen. Horace Porter had an hour's conference this morning with Mr. Hahn, after which the latter started for Canton, Ohio.

Neither General Porter nor the Ohio committeeman would say anything about their conference, but the crowd of politicians in the State headquarters were sure that Mr. Hahn had made the final arrangements with General Porter to [illegible] on the national ticket.

The Platt men asserted after Mr. Hahn's departure that the McKinley managers' plan included the nomination of General Porter as Vice President and the appointment of Warner Miller as secretary of the treasury, in the event of McKinley's election.

ANYTHING TO WIN.

General Warner Favors a Combination of the Silver Forces.

Chicago, May 21.—Gen. A. J. Warner, the free silver leader, spent to-day in this city on his way home to Marietta, O., from Toledo.

Regarding the monetary and political situation he said: "There has been a rapid growth in silver sentiment throughout the country lately. It has specially manifested itself in the primary election for delegates to the Chicago convention of the Democratic party. It is significant that there is enthusiasm among the silver Republicans over the election of silver delegates to the Democratic convention. At least two-thirds of the Democratic delegates from Ohio will be in favor of free silver, and it looks now as if the silver men would control the national convention. The Bimetallic union believes in anything to win, and in favor of having only one silver ticket in the Presidential election."

MAJORITY WILL RULE.

Governor Altgeld Thinks There Will Be No Bolt in Illinois.

Chicago, May 21.—Gov. Altgeld came to town to-day to take personal charge of the Democratic silver campaign in the county, which will culminate in the convention next week. He ridicules the talk of the anti-silver Democrats bolting the county or state conventions of the party, and declared that after the county convention, the gold standard politicians would be found working hard for the majority. It was expected that a meeting of the Democratic sound money organization would be held to-day to decide on the question of holding a separate primary election and convention; but there was no meeting and what was more significant there was a cessation of talk in the bolting strain. Instead the organization issued a statement merely denouncing the methods of the silver majority on the county committee and encouraging the sound money Democrats to continue the fight for "fair play and honest primaries."

The situation to-night does not point to a bolt. Several prominent politicians on the gold side have declared against such action.

WYOMING DEMOCRATS.

A One Plank Platform Demands the Free Coinage of Silver.

Laramie, Wyo., May 21.—The Wyoming Democratic convention held here to-day was harmonious and tame. Without discussion a platform of but one plank was unanimously adopted as follows:

"It is resolved that we, the Democracy of Wyoming in convention assembled, demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into primary redemption money at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action of any other government."

The delegates to Chicago are: Ex-Gov. John E. Osborne, Carbon county; Robert Foote, Johnson county; G. W. Bramel, Albany county; T. Dyer, Laramie; M. L. Blake, Sheridan, and J. W. Sammon, Uintah county.

No mention was made of President Cleveland or his administration, and no choice of candidates for the Presidential nomination was expressed or discussed by the convention.

He Doesn't Like McKinley.

Boston, May 21.—A special in to-night's Transcript from St. Albans, Vermont, says in part:

Senator Edmunds has written a letter to at least one of the delegates chosen to represent Vermont at the national convention at St. Louis, in which he virtually expresses disgust at the action of the Green Mountain voters in taking a stand which makes it practically imperative that their delegates vote for McKinley at St. Louis. The missive was written about a week ago to Col. Edward C. Smith of St. Albans, president of the Central Vermont railroad, and one of the delegates at large.

Speaking of the possibility that the Vermont delegates may not at St. Louis all cast out the expressed wish of the state convention, Colonel Smith said in his opinion the delegates would be obliged to vote for McKinley as a matter of honor, without regard to personal preference.

Colonel Smith expressed the belief that McKinley would be nominated on the first ballot at St. Louis, but said he thought there was yet some danger that McKinley's boom would be so big that it might at last break on account of its own weight. In this case, the Vermont voters would probbly go to the man who developed the most strength.

JOHN A. COCKERILL.

Funeral Services were Held at St. Louis Yesterday.

St. Louis, May 21.—This afternoon the mortal remains of the late John A. Cockerill were laid to rest in the Elks Rest in Bellefontaine cemetery. The funeral services were held in the Church of the Messiah, Rev. Dr. John Snyder officiating. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful, and filled the entire space within the chancel rails.

At the grave Congressman Charles F. Joy delivered an eulogy and the ritualistic services for the dead were performed by the local Elks lodge.

Bryan Won His Suit.

Lincoln, Neb., May 21.—Congressman Bryan to-day won his suit in the District Court enjoining the city from issuing something over $500,000 for gold refunding bonds. Mr. Bryan did not question the legality of the bonds only so far as the gold provision was concerned, he maintaining that coin bonds were sufficient. Judge Holmes sustained this view in so far as it referred to payment in gold and made the injunction perpetual. The case may be appealed.

A Celebrated Mare Killed.

Lexington, Ky., May 21.—The great race mare Yo Tambien was killed at McGrathiana farm, near here, last evening, while romping in the paddock with W. W. Laudeman's Hessie. She became frightened and ran against a fence, breaking a rail and running a large splinter into her abdomen near the fourth rib, causing death within fifteen minutes.

The mare was bred to Hanover 20 days ago, and was thought to be with foal.

An Increased Revenue.

Washington, May 21. Internal revenue receipts for the past ten months aggregated $124,000,000, an increase over the like period of 1895 of $1,003,198. As compared with the ten months of 1895, receipts from spirits show a decrease of $1,000,000, tobacco an increase of $1,171,186; fermented liquors an increase of $1,207,257; oleomargarine a decrease of $19,064; and miscellaneous a decrease of $[illegible].

Gold Reserve.

Washington, May 21.—The treasury gold reserve at the close of business to day stood $117,8[illegible]. The day's withdrawals were $45,700.

PROTEST AGAINST SPAIN'S ACTION.

Practical Confiscation of Property of Americans in Cuba.

RETALIATION IS THREATENED.

If Cubans May Not Export Leaf Tobacco the United States Will Shut Out the Manufactured Article—Latest Spanish Affairs.

Washington, May 21.—Secretary Olney has instructed Minister Taylor to make vigorous representations to the Spanish government relative to recent edicts prohibiting the exportation of tobacco from the Island of Cuba, on the grounds that it amounts to the practical confiscation of goods in Cuba owned by Americans. The data on hand at the State Department, supplied by the collectors of the Florida ports, show that the cigar men of Tampa alone have $700,000 worth of tobacco in Cuba paid for and subject to delivery, and that for all the other Florida ports there is as much more. It will be impossible for the merchants to get this property out of Cuba within the prescribed time and Minister Taylor has been instructed to make such representations to Spain as will secure ample time in which to secure this property. It is believed that the tone of Mr. Olney's note will accomplish this result.

A Threat of Retaliation.

If it does not other means will be taken. The Spanish government advises that this notice is taken in order that Cubans loyal to the government in Havana, engaged in the cigar business may have the leaf to work with, and that hostility to the United States has nothing to do with it. A resolution has been prepared and if within a few days the State Department does not hear satisfactorily upon its protest, the resolution will be passed. It will give the President authority to prohibit by proclamation the importation into the United States of cigars and other manufactured tobacco from the Island of Cuba. Inasmuch as the greater part of the Cuban cigars are exported to this country this step will effectually offset the action taken under the edict of the captain general. The resolution will not be brought forward until it is apparent that Spain intends to harrass the United States and make it impossible for her citizens to get the property now in the island for which they have paid.

LATEST FROM CUBA

An American Arrested—An Important Battle Reported.

Havana, May 21. (Via Key West, Fla., May 21).—On May last Francisco J. Jerson, an American, and owner of the Preciosa estate, near Cardenas, was arrested in that city. The cause of the arrest is unknown. He is still "incommunicado," deprived of communication with outsiders. The vice consul has taken up the case and reported the fact to Consul General Williams.

The advance guard of Gomez, it is reported, crossed the Hanabana river yesterday. It is rumored here that Gomez has defeated Col. Segura. It is also reported the whole Spanish column was [illegible] and Col. Segura taken prisoner.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Official Statements Concerning Bering Seal and Transvaal Prisoners.

London, May 21.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. George N. Curzon, Under Secretary, said that the regulations controlling the fur seal fishery in British Columbian waters were in some respects contrary to the recommendations of the recent fisheries commission, but steps were now being taken to inquire into the administration of the regulations.

Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, announced that the colonial office has received a telegram from President Krueger of the Transvaal republic, stating that the jail regulations would be immediately modified so as to increase the comfort of the reform committee prisoners.

The House of Lords adjourned to-day until June 8.

TOO MANY PROXIES.

South Dakota Silver Men Analyze Their Defeat.

Aberdeen, S. D., May 21.—The conference of the silver Democrats in the small hours of the morning was not to select a contesting delegation, but to discuss methods and plans for another state gathering of the free silver wing of the Democracy, for the purpose of electing a delegation to Chicago. Col. Lynch declared in favor of this plan and it is known others viewed it as he did. The silver Democrats had two-thirds of the delegates present at the convention, but the fact that the entire Black Hills was practically in control of three gold men loaded down with proxies and that the convention permitted them to vote, put the silver forces in a minority. Had the silverites bolted on the admission of these proxies they say they could have broken up the convention and made a clean case. The convention attracted widespread interest.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Louisville-Baltimore.

Louisville, May 21.—Baltimore was shut out to-day in one of the greatest pitchers battles ever fought on the Louisville grounds. Score: Louisville 1, Baltimore 0.

Pittsburg-Philadelphia.

Pittsburg, May 21.—McGill was wild in the first inning to-day, and three bases on balls and two singles ended in four runs. Score: Pittsburg 6, Philadelphia 5.

Washington-Chicago.

Chicago, May 21.—The Senators to-day gave the Colts a bad beating the third they have had this week. The fielding was miserable on both sides. Score: Chicago 6, Washington [illegible].

Cincinnati-New York.

Cincinnati, May 21.—The Reds bunched their hits in the sixth inning of to-day's game and won their seventh consecutive game. Both teams fielded brilliantly. Score: Cincinnati 4, New York 2.

Cleveland-Boston.

Cleveland, May 21.—Timely hitting by Cleveland won to-day's game. Young had the Bostons at his mercy at every stage of the game. Score: Cleveland 4, Boston 1.

A Lynching Feared.

Ottumwa, Iowa, May 21.—The preliminary trial of Ned Hemphill for the murder of Mamie Petersen, which was to have been held at Unionville to-day, was postponed because of the large number of farmers in town, who, it was understood, would attempt to rescue the officers spirited the prisoner away and set him back to the Centerville jail safely. The attorneys waived examination for him. The revolver which it is supposed was used to kill the girl was found in the cells of Hemphill's [illegible].

WHY SPAIN FEARS US.

HER NAVY NO MATCH FOR THAT OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Relative Naval Forces of the Two Powers—We Can Match Them Ship For Ship and Have Something Left Over. Vessels of a Great Navy.

[Special Correspondence.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 18. Twenty years ago, when Spain seized the Virginius and arrogantly refused to make amends, our naval authorities had a very different problem from that which would confront them now in case of war with the Dons. Then Spain had a naval force which, although by no means first class, was considerably superior to anything we could have brought against it. Today the situation is different.

War between Spain and the United States would be a naval war. Our army might be used to supplement the forces of the Cuban insurgents, but we would certainly never think of invading Spain, and even the Spaniards would hardly attempt to carry the war into our country. Cuba would be the objective point of all operations, both military and naval. If Spain could not keep up the stream of men and supplies she has been pouring into Cuba, that island would immediately fall into our hands or into those of the insurgents. To keep this stream flowing uninterruptedly Spain must be able to dominate the high seas against any force we could bring against her.

What would be the result of a contest for the command of the seas between these two powers?

With at least as good officers and men as Spain and under no disadvantage as to supplies it is evident that if we can match them ship for ship we can have a reasonable expectation of being able to overcome them at sea.

It may be well to describe, as shortly as possible, the different classes of ships which make up a navy.

Battleships.

First is the battleship, big, powerful, usually slow moving and carrying powerful guns. She has thick armor and is provided with numerous tubes for launching torpedoes. Battleships are usually of 8,000 to 12,000 tons. Next to the battleship in power is the armored cruiser, of 5,000 to 8,000 tons, of lighter armor and armament and greater speed. Next to the armored cruiser is the so called protected cruiser, not much inferior in size to her armored sister, but without armor. She has a curved steel deck to protect her machinery and ammunition and usually steel shields to guard the guns and gunners. Next are the cruisers, which usually make up the numerical strength of a fleet, varying from 4,000 to 3,000 or 4,000 tons and without protective decks or gun shields. After them come the small gunboats, the torpedo boats and the dispatch boats.

Spain has but one first class battleship, the Pelayo, of 10,000 tons. Her vitals are protected by steel armor of 18 inches, and her guns by 19 inches. She carries four mammoth guns, two of 12½ and two of 11 inches caliber. Besides this powerful main battery, she has 12 five inch rapid fire guns, 12 machine guns, and her 17 knots' speed make the ram with which she is equipped a formidable weapon of offense. A rapid fire gun, by the way, is a gun that uses fixed ammunition, powder and ball in one piece, just as in the ordinary small arm, and is arranged for the rapid working of the breech mechanism. A machine gun is a smaller piece, either automatic in its loading and firing or manipulated by a crank. The rapidity of some of these guns is astonishing, 1,000 or more shots per minute being by no means unusual. Seven automobile torpedoes can be silently sent from the Pelayo's sides and bows against an unsuspecting adversary.

To meet this really formidable monster we may take our pick of four new battleships—the Indiana, the Iowa, the Massachusetts and the Oregon. The first named, the Indiana, is in commission, and we will suppose her pitted against the Pelayo. She is 10,000 tons in weight and has 18 inches of armor on her belt and 17 before her guns, a little less in thickness than that of the Pelayo, it will be observed, but more modern and much better, so that we may fairly conclude that in the matter of armor the Indiana is in no wise inferior to her supposed antagonist. In guns she is vastly superior, for she has four 13 inch guns in her turrets that are vastly superior to the four heavy guns of the Pelayo. Besides these she has eight 8 inch guns, which, together with her four 13 inch guns, give her a main battery that is believed to be superior to that of any armored ship of anything like her size in the world. Her main battery is supplemented by 6 four inch rapid fire guns, 20 six pounders, 6 one pounders and 4 machine guns. She also has a ram, six torpedo tubes and can steam 16 knots. Even the uninitiated can readily see that the Indiana should be able to make reasonably short work of Spain's battleship.

Armored Cruisers.

Next in size to the Pelayo Spain has the armored cruiser Carlos V. She weighs 9,000 tons and is provided with 10 inch armor on her turrets and 2 inches on her sides. She carries two 11 inch and eight 5½ inch guns, besides the usual secondary battery. The Oregon, sister ship to the Indiana, would easily give a good account of a pair of such ships.

Spain would next fall back upon her armored cruisers, of which she has eight, all told. Six of them are really first class modern steel cruisers, of which the Infanta Maria Theresa is a sample. She is of 7,000 tons and is capable of steaming 20 knots. She has 12 inches of steel armor on her sides and 10½ inches before her guns, of which she carries two of 11 inches, ten rapid fire 5½ inches, eight 6 pounders and eight 3 pounders. She has eight torpedo tubes. The other two armored cruisers are the old fashioned broadside ironclads, the Numancia and the Vitoria. They have only five inches of armor, and each carries eight 10 inch muzzle loading armstrong rifles and eight of 8 inches. If we add to these the antiquated monitor Puig-cerda, which is probably unseaworthy, we will have all the armored ships that Spain could bring against us.

To meet this really warlike fleet we must turn to our armored ships. The Massachusetts and the Iowa are like the Indiana in most points, although more modern, and therefore more powerful. Next we could call upon the second class battleships Maine and Texas, more heavily armored, just as fast and with more powerful guns than the Spanish cruisers. Next would come the armored cruiser New York, singly more than a match for any one of the Spaniards. To these we could add the low freeboard monitors, Puritan, of 6,000 tons, and the Monadnock, Terror, Monterey, Miantonomoh and Amphitrite, of about 3,000 tons each. They are not quite so fast as the Spanish cruisers are claimed to be, but they are in every way more powerful.

Unarmored Fleets.

When we come to a comparison of the unarmored fleets of the two powers, the superiority of the United States is even more apparent. Spain has, all told, about 30 unarmored ships of all classes, many of them so old as to be almost unserviceable, and 15 of them are torpedo boats. Probably first in efficiency of Spain's unarmored fleet are the two modern steel cruisers, Lepanto and Alfonso XIII. They were launched in 1891-2 and are said to make 20 knots. Their armaments consist of four 6 inch and six 5 inch guns in the main battery, and they have besides six 3 pounders, six 1 pounders and three machine guns each. Each also has five torpedo tubes. Against them we could send, with every prospect of victory, the protected cruisers Philadelphia and Newark. They are of 4,200 tons each, equal in speed to the Spaniards and carry guns that, although somewhat lighter in caliber than those of their opponents, would be much more effective in action against unarmored ships. They each have 12 six inch guns and 4 six pounders, 4 three pounders, 2 one pounders and 7 machine guns, as well as 6 torpedo tubes.

Next in order would come Spain's two cruisers, the Reina Cristina and the Reina Mercedes, of 3,000 tons each and built in 1887. They can steam 17 knots and are armed with six 5 inch, 13 quick firing and five machine guns. Each of them has five torpedo tubes. The Cincinnati and the Raleigh, of 3,200 tons each, with their vastly more powerful batteries of one 6 inch, ten 5 inch rapid fire, 14 smaller rapid fire and two machine guns, would be easily able to take good care of these two Spaniards.

Spain has also eight small iron vessels of about 1,100 tons each, which we would call gunboats. They were built about 1888, and the Conde de Venadito may be taken as a fair sample of them. She carries four 5 inch and two 6 pounders, which, with five machine guns and two torpedo tubes, make up her offensive force. The others of this class are the Cristobal Colon, Don Antonio Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria, Infanta Isabel, Isabel II, Isla de Cuba and Isla de Luzon. To meet them, and easily overmatching them, we have the Detroit, Montgomery and Marblehead, of 2,100 tons each. To these we could add the three steel gunboats Bennington, Concord and Yorktown, of 1,700 tons each. These six vessels are easily a match for a dozen such craft as the Conde de Venadito, but in order to make the number equal we will add to our side the two smaller gunboats Castine and Machias, of 1,200 tons each and carrying eight 4 inch rapid fire, four 6 pounder and two 1 pounder guns.

Auxiliaries.

Against the remainder of the Spanish navy, which consists of the three wooden cruisers Aragon, Castilla and Navarra, built in 1880, and armed with six 6 inch guns; the four small iron gunboats El Cano, General Lezo, Concha and Magellanes, of about 500 tons each; the steel transport Alfonso XII, similar in size and armament to the Alfonso XIII, 11 torpedo boats and two dispatch boats, we could send a fleet in many respects almost equal to the whole Spanish navy. This would consist of the two so called "pirates," the Columbia and Minneapolis, of 7,500 tons each; the Baltimore, sister ship to the Chicago, although of somewhat different armaament; the San Francisco, Charleston, Atlanta and Boston, all highly efficient protected cruisers; the Lancaster, an old fashioned wooden frigate modernized; the Marion and the Mohican, wooden cruisers, of 1,900 tons; the Adams, Alliance, Essex and Enterprise, the Thetis and the steel dispatch boat Dolphin. If these were not enough, although they surely would be, we could add the baker's dozen of single turret monitors, most of which are yet capable of good service, and still have left the 900 ton modern gunboats Petrel and Bancroft, and the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius and the torpedo boats Alarm, Ericsson, Cushing and Stiletto. It is in this arm, and this only, that we are in any way inferior to Spain. She has a number of first class high speed torpedo boats, one of which has made a speed of about 24 knots and nearly all of which, with daring commanders, would be capable of greatly annoying our fleet.

BATTLESHIP MASSACHUSETTS.

The result of the foregoing examination of the relative naval forces of the two powers is enough to satisfy the most exacting that we have absolutely nothing to fear from a naval war with Spain. No doubt we would meet with stubborn resistance and probably with some disaster, but the ultimate result could be nothing else but a complete victory.

WILLIAM G. DAVID.

Pantagruel Taught to Ride.

In the days of Rabelais, that mirror of mediævalism, horsemanship had already made considerable strides. In the education of Pantagruel riding was to be a prominent feature from very earliest childhood—first by means of a wooden horse, and later, on reaching years of discretion, under the tuition of an escuyer gymnaste, he is to practice all the feats of horsemanship to which the then evolving menage had attained.

"And with them a young gentleman of Touraine, named the Esquire Gymnast, who taught him the art of riding. Changing then his clothes, he rode a Naples courser, Dutch Roussin, a Spanish gennet, a barbed or trapped steed, then a light fleet horse, unto whom he gave 100 carieres, made him go to the high saults; bounded in the air, free a ditch with a skip, leap over a stile or rail, turn short in a ring both to the right and left hand. As for the prancing flourishes and smacking poplsms for the better cherishing of the horse, commonly used in riding, none did them better than he. The voltiger of Ferrara was but as an ape compared to him. He was singularly skillful in leaping nimbly from one horse to another without putting foot to ground, and these horses were called desultories. He could likewise from either side, with a lance in his hand, leap on horseback without stirrups and rate the horse at his pleasure without a bridle."—Quarterly Review.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Latest Government Report Regarding the Great Agricultural Sections.

Chicago, May 21.—The weekly reports as to the condition of the crops throughout the country and the general effect of the weather on growth, cultivation and harvest of the same, as made by the directors of the several climate and crop sections are as follows:

The week has been characterized by unusually high average daily temperature from the Mississippi valley eastward and unusually low average temperature in the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast regions. The week has also been marked by excessively heavy precipitation in the States of the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and by an almost entire absence of rain in New England, over much of the south Atlantic States and over portions of southern and western Texas. Severe local storms have caused damage to crops in portions of Texas, Missouri, Nebraska and Wisconsin. The effects of drought are being quite seriously felt in the Atlantic coast States and in the Ohio valley, where the rainfall is largely deficient. Winter wheat is now heading in the more northerly winter wheat States, and in Kansas is nearly ready for harvesting. Reports generally indicate that wheat is heading very short. Illinois reports improved conditions in north central and southeastern counties; Oklahoma also reports an improvement and in Michigan the crop is in good condition. Less favorable reports are received from Ohio, Indiana and Virginia, where the crop has sustained injury from rust or insects. The spring wheat seeding is nearly finished in North Dakota, but owing to continuous rains of this and the preceding weeks, little progress has been made in Minnesota, where wheat has been damaged in some localities by water. In South Dakota it has made rapid and healthy progress and is stooling well. Corn is now being planted in New England, New York and North Dakota and planting is well under way in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, having been completed in more southerly sections. Corn is coming up nicely in Indiana and Illinois, is receiving its first cultivation in Ohio and is being laid by in some of the southern States, where it is silking and tasseling. Early planted corn in Iowa is becoming weedy and some fields have been washed by heavy rains in Nebraska.

TO BE COMMUTED.

Boers Will Not Be Harsh Against the Convicted Plotters.

London, May 21.—A dispatch from Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of the Cape Colony, has been received by the government, in which it is announced that the Transvaal authorities have reached a decision in the cases of 59 of the members of the Reform union, who were recently convicted in connection with the conspiracy against the South African republic, and were sentenced to imprisonment, fine and banishment. A number of these prisoners will be released immediately and others will be given their freedom at the expiration of three months, while a part of those still remaining in custody will be allowed to renew their requests for a cancellation of their sentences after five months shall have elapsed, and four of the condemned men will be given the same privilege at the end of a year from the date of their sentences. That portion of the judgment of the court imposing a fine upon the convicted men will stand, but the banishment clause will be suspended provided the prisoners give their word of honor not to interfere in future in politics of the republic. The names of the prisoners whose sentences have thus been reduced are at present kept secret.

As regards Col. Frank W. Rhodes, Lieutenant Colonel Phillips, George Farrar and John Hays Hammond, the leaders of the Johannesburg reform committee, who were sentenced to death for high treason against the Transvaal, Governor Robinson's dispatch says their sentences have been commuted to 15 years' imprisonment, with a provision for their future commutation. These cases will be considered by the executive council of the Transvaal next week.

Governor Robinson further states that he learns that the commutation of the sentences of the four leaders in the reform movement to imprisonment for 15 years was merely a matter of form, as it was necessary to impose such sentence upon the prisoners immediately, and that the sentence will probably not be put into effect.

The government has received the names of the prisoners whose sentences have been commuted. The men who are to be released at once are nine in number. Among them are the Americans, H. J. King, Captain Mein and Butters. Those who are to be released after three months number 24, and include F. R. Lingham, an American. Among 18 who are to serve five months before being allowed to renew their requests for their release are the Americans, V. B. Clement and J. W. Leonard.

MISSOURI PACIFIC.

The Missouri Pacific Railway company has made a rate of one fare for the round trip to St. Louis, Mo., and return, on account of the National Republican Convention, to be held in St. Louis on June 16, 1896. Tickets will be sold from Colorado points on June 13, 14 and 15, with final limit for return on June 17.

Special reservation has been made at terminal tracks for the cages of animals, at convenient points to the convention hall. The most complete provisions will be made for light (including gas), fuel, water and sanitary arrangements, making the Missouri Pacific facilities superior to those of any other road.

Apply to nearest ticket agent, or write C. A. Tripp, G. W. F. and P. A., Denver, Colo., for further information, and Pullman reservations. E. E. HOFFMAN, Traveling Passenger Agent.

For the National Democratic Convention, to be held in Chicago, Ills., July 7, 1896, the Missouri Pacific Railway company has named a rate of one fare for the round trip. Tickets on sale from Colorado points July 3, 4 and 6, with final return limit of July 14.

Apply to nearest ticket agent, or write C. A. Tripp, G. W. F. and P. A., Denver, Colo., for further information, and Pullman reservations. E. E. HOFFMAN, Traveling Passenger Agent.

How to Treat a Wife.

(from Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent liveryman and merchant of Goshen, Va. has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him.

Children with pale, bluish complexions, indicating the absence of the requisite red globules in the blood, should take Dr. Sawyer's Ukatine.

Experience and money cannot improve Dr. Sawyer's Family Cure, because it radically cures dyspepsia, liver complaint and kidney difficulty.

Dr. Sawyer:—

Dear Sir: I can say with pleasure that I have been using your medicine, and will recommend it to all suffering ladies.

"TWO STRADDLERS."

At the time when Abraham Lincoln was elected President of the United States, the platform of the Republican party did not demand the abolition of slavery. He did not contend for that himself. He was content to resist the further extension of slavery into the Territories. At that time, also, there was a comparatively small band of irreconcilables who would hear of nothing less than the immediate abolition of slavery, and who were so disgusted with Lincoln for his "straddle" on the slavery question that they denounced him and those who thought with him more bitterly than they did those who were the avowed advocates of the extension of slavery all over the United States. No compromise was their cry. They wished to force public sentiment, not to go with it, or even to lead it. They regarded the first inaugural message of Mr. Lincoln as cowardly. They did not care whether the abolition of slavery at that time was practicable or not. They could not and would not see that the mass of the people must be educated up to the point where they would approve of abolition before it could safely be attempted—that is, before an attempt to accomplish it could possibly be successful and permanent. Mr. Lincoln had for a long time no fiercer enemies, no more outspoken denunciators, than the abolitionists.

But after all, Lincoln freed the slaves. The abolitionists could not have done it, by their methods, in a hundred years.

It is not statesmanship nor common sense to throw away everything you have got in order to get something you want more, when it is evident you can't get it. McKinley is a bimetallist. He is not a gold monometallist, nor a silver monometallist. For that reason he is called a "straddler," and is denounced in Wall street because he will not declare out and out for the single gold standard, and in the Rocky mountain States because he will not declare out and out for the single silver standard. We think the great mass of the Republican party believe just about as he does; and because he will not come out from among them, and be separate, on either extreme, he is denounced as a straddler.

He is just as much a straddler on the money question as Lincoln was on the slavery question.

It has been said that the lessons of history are never of value to a new generation. Here is a case in which, if ever, they ought to be valuable. It is worth while for Republicans, especially in Colorado and the adjoining States, to think upon these things.

AN UNHOLY ALLIANCE.

As time passes, and the overwhelming strength of McKinley becomes more manifest, and the probability of the election of a Republican President looks more and more like a certainty, the opposition forces are beginning to see the necessity of getting together if they are to make any kind of a showing in the electoral college.

If the Democrats nominate a candidate acceptable to the gold men, and the straight silver party names a ticket, and the Populists another, the Republicans will have a walk-over. If the silver Democrats capture the Chicago convention, and the silver independents join them, and the gold Democrats either have an independent candidate or sulk, and the Populists have a candidate, the Republicans have a walk-over again. If the Democrats nominate a gold man on a silver platform, or do some other compromise act, the straight silver men combine with the Populists, the Republicans will have an easy win again. In fact, the only chance for the opposition to make a showing at all is to come together and vote for the same electors.

There are signs that such a scheme is on foot.

The Rocky Mountain News appears to be the organ of the "combine" in this part of the country. Its plan seems to be that the Democrats shall nominate Boies or some other colorless sort of a candidate, who may hold most of the Democratic vote, and the straight silver men and Populists endorse him, or run the same electoral ticket as the Democrats. In this way, they hope to carry the solid South and enough Western States to make a majority in the electoral college.

Of course an alliance like this would be for the spoils altogether and manifestly. Both Democrats and Populists would have to surrender principle, and the platform, or the combined platforms, would be a political curiosity such as has seldom or never been seen in this country. If the combination should be successful, there would be an administration as inefficient as any we have ever had, and a Congress that would not know what it wanted to do and would therefore probably do nothing.

Such a combination would expect to get the solid South, with 121 electoral votes, and the States of Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, and Wyoming, with a total of 58 electoral votes, making 179 in all. The other 22 votes needed it would expect to pick up in Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin.

It would take gambler's luck to win on a combination of this kind. In the first place, the "solid South" would not be solid. Maryland and Delaware would be almost certain to go Republican with such an alignment, and Kentucky and Tennessee would be doubtful. Missouri, the Dakotas, Kansas and Nebraska would be very doubtful indeed, with the chances in favor of the Republicans in at least three of them; while the probability of capturing either Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin or Michigan would be almost nothing.

Nevertheless, this looks like the only possible chance for the opposition to come anywhere near beating the Republican ticket, and desperate efforts will be made to bring about the combination.

From this time on, we may expect to see The Rocky News, the Democratic leaders in Colorado, the Denver Republican, and the Waite gang, all working together to this end.

Nice combination, isn't it?

The Colorado Springs baseball team of the professional league has suffered thus far in the season from a combination of adverse circumstances, principal among which was a manager who collected what he could, and then left without paying his men. The franchise of the club is now in the hands of honest and capable parties, who will see to it that things are managed right hereafter. They deserve encouragement, and we hope that all those who are interested in baseball will see that they get it. Money is needed to put the grounds in first rate order, and to erect free seats. The Gilliett people have raised $1,100 to see their team through. They are bound to have good baseball if they have to pay for it. The same spirit here would ensure a good season. Of course there is not quite the interest in a professional team that there is in an amateur team; but there are plenty who like the game for itself. It helps to liven up things, and the further along the season gets, the more interest there is likely to be. Once get a good start, and the gate receipts would almost certainly support the team handsomely. For our part, we hope that Manager Mangold will succeed in getting all the money he needs, so that the team will play the season through. A meeting of those interested in baseball has been called for this evening, and we hope there will be a good attendance, so that Manager Mangold may know just what he can depend on. If the season is to be a success, something must be done right away.

The report from Washington that Senator Allison is entirely good natured in the way in which the McKinley boom has over-crowed all other booms including his own, is not hard to believe. Allison has had the Presidential lightning playing about his head with less symptoms of excitement on his own part than any other public man. The long session of Congress has usually lasted beyond the time of the assembling of the national conventions, and Allison, as chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, has commonly stuck to his work of examining the details of appropriation bills without allowing the bulletins from the conventions to make any visible interruption. A man who hurried up to the Capitol to see him during one of the conventions found him at the head of a big table in the committee room doing three things at once: first, he was going over the items of the sundry civil appropriation bill with a sub-committee; second, he was reading telegrams from the convention; and third, he was eating a lunch of pie and milk which was at his elbow.

While would-be bolters are making some trouble for Republicans this year, yet their power for mischief is not a circumstance to that which is held over the Democrats by such men as Boies, Tillman, and Altgeld. As personal ambition seems to have great influence with these three men it is likely enough that even if the free silver wing of the Democratic party recedes or makes the other fellows secede, harmony will still be absent from its councils, and more splitting will be necessary to secure peace. Secession is the great Democratic specialty any how.

Notice was served that with the opening of this season fashion was going to frown the reformed bicycle costume for women out of existence. The frowns have been frowned but the more convenient dresses for exercising still appear. The bicycle is such a silent contrivance that many have failed to recognize it as a genuine reformer; but when it takes hold of a good-roads movement, or a dress-reform movement it accomplishes more in a year than a whole regiment of decturers in twice the time. Even its great co-worker, the press, falls to carry through reforms which are easily brought to a successful issue by the wheel.

It is too bad that a belligerent brother-in-law is likely to drive Rudyard Kipling from his home in Vermont. At the same time it must be said that if Kipling had not said so many mean things about Americans, and had not so persistently snubbed and traduced American reporters, his family squabble would not have been bulletined so widely. If a man wishes to settle in a country he had better refrain from publishing such a volume of his first impressions about it as that which Kipling hastened to issue.

Lest it should be overlooked that the Democrats have failed to provide an adequate revenue for the government, Senator Gorman every once in a while presents a resolution to issue treasury certificates, or to cut down needed appropriations, or to do something else unwarrantable to which the Senate cannot agree. It is a little hard to see what his object can be in this matter unless it is still further to discredit Cleveland, whom the Maryland Senator does not love.

The correspondents who suggests that potato-patch relief be tried in this community as a way of providing for tramps, rather mistakes the possibility of that form of aid. It is designed for the relief of the resident poor, and an attempt to set vagrants to cultivating such allotments would not be half so effective as the method now in vogue here, by which they are made to work on the roads and ditches.

The House has passed the McCall immigration bill, which is substantially identical with Senator Lodge's bill in the other House. Now let the Senate pass that bill, and conference committees be appointed. The final result ought to be the passage of a good bill at this session.

The erection of very high buildings in the Eastern cities is not, as some seem to think, a sign of reviving industry. In part at least it reflects only the hurry of land-owners to get such buildings up before the legislatures impose any further restrictions.

The gentle cyclone has paid the compliments of the season to the States from Texas to Michigan. It doubtless lends a sort of monotony to life not to have any of these twisters to expect, but we are still able to be content with Colorado weather.

No New Virginius.

The Spanish government has done well to call a halt upon Weyler-ism in Cuba. It hesitates, as it well may, to have a repetition of the Virginius affair. Nor are its motives hard to guess. We do not know that the government of Spain is any more humane than it was in 1873. Weyler certainly is not. He has shown himself not only ready, but eager to repeat Burriel's work. Left to himself, he would doubtless have had all the Competitor's men butchered and their bodies mutilated as Burriel did with those of the Virginius. He even threatens to resign his place if he is not allowed to do so. But the Spanish government calls a halt. It knows perfectly well that while the Competitor might readily be made a new Virginius, the sequel to the slaughter would be very different in 1896 from what it was in 1873-4. The United States government is not as helpless now as it was then. It is at this moment assembling in New York waters a fleet that could in an hour destroy the whole navy of Spain. Nor is it to be imagined that it would be as patient and forbearing as it was. A self-respecting government may pardon a first offence, though gross and grievous. It will scarcely pardon a wanton and defiant repetition of it. It is not too much to say that had Weyler carried out his bloodthirsty designs last week, war between the United States and Spain would now be wellnigh inevitable. Nor would it be a war of formal demonstrations. There are too many men in this country who remember the Virginius, and too many in the services who still long to avenge that massacre, to make such a war anything other than bitter and unrelenting to the last degree permitted by the laws of civilization. Spain has done well to take these things into account. She has postponed and, it is earnestly to be hoped, averted the danger of war. (N. Y. Tribune.

Greater New York.

Greater New York, with its area of 359 square miles, will be the second largest city in the world. It has 1100 churches, 50 postoffices, 37,000 business houses, 130,000 dwellings, 1100 miles of street and elevated railways, 1100 hotels, 300 public schools, a debt of $170,000,000, taxable property of $2,553,324,320, and a population of considerably over 3,000,000. In the year 1800 the population of New York was 60,480, and of Brooklyn 3,8, a total of 62,867. The size and splendor of the consolidated city a century hence are entirely beyond the range of human conjecture.—(Exchange.

Will Please Their Constituents.

The fight in the Democratic national convention on free silver will be between the South and the old North States, with the West about evenly divided. There will probably be a compromise, the North writing the first part of the resolution and Tillman dictating the last part. The delegates can then all go home happy, assured of satisfying their constituents.—(Topeka Capitol.

St. Louis Jealousy.

Chicago's loss of population during the last two years, according to its new school census, is in the neighborhood of 75,00 inhabitants. Some of this vanished multitude are in St. Louis, growing up with the great central city and its steady, substantial boom.—(Globe Democrat.

DID NOT KNOW A WIG.

Astute Lawyer Who Died Tired of a Dangerous Witness by a Trick.

There resides in Washington a lawyer who a few days ago retired from the profession in which his name was a power. In his early days, says the Washington News, the lawyer lost his hair, the result of a long spell of sickness, and from those days to the present time his head has been adorned with wigs, veritable works of art, from the hands of a celebrated maker in New York. As time rolled on he changed the glossy black shock of artificial hair to an iron gray, which is the color he affects now. The wigs look so natural that only his intimate friends recognize them as such. One day he was defending a man accused of trying to steal a pair of trousers from a hook in front of a secondhand store while the proprietor was inside. The shopkeeper was placed on the stand and identified the prisoner as the man who attempted to snatch the goods, mentioning at the time that the thief wore a wig.

"Do you know a wig when you see one on somebody's head?" asked the attorney.

The witness smiled and replied in the affirmative.

"Does his honor wear a wig?"

"No."

"Do any of the jury wear them?"

"No."

"Do I wear one?"

The shopkeeper laughed outright at the idea of a man with such a magnificent suit of iron gray hair wearing a wig, and he replied emphatically that he did not.

"I know you didn't know a wig when you saw one," retorted the lawyer coolly, at the same time yanking off the gray locks and exposing a pate smooth as a baby's face.

The courtroom was convulsed and the defendant acquitted.

Importance of a Good Breakfast.

It is no uncommon thing to find among our acquaintances that many persons, when asked as to the kind of breakfast they eat, reply that they either eat none at all or only perhaps drink a cup of coffee or tea, says The Family Doctor. It is true that the ordinary English breakfast is calculated to strike terror in the minds of the average European, and French people would be appalled at the idea of eating breakfast or a couple of chops the first thing in the morning, and yet it is a great mistake to commence the day without a good meal as a foundation.

It may have been noticed by those who have no appetite for breakfast that even if hungry on retiring it is an exception to have a feeling of hunger on awakening in the morning. It is probable that during sleep, the functions of digestion being in abeyance, the stomach contracts, and this is probably why some persons cannot eat late at night. The empty stomach, having no function to perform, contracts itself, and in the morning it requires some little stimulation for it to begin its daily work. This is why so many, especially invalids, cannot take a heavy breakfast.

For those who can do so it is a good plan to drink a little cold water on rising. It washes out the stomach, takes away any mucus that might have collected there in the night and stimulates the digestive glands to give forth their secretions and prepare for that important act, digestion.—Exchange.

Were it not better for a man in a fair room to set up one light or branching candlestick of lights than to go about with a rushlight into every dark corner.—Bacon.

AN ATTEMPT AT MURDER.

A Camper in the Bottoms Tried to Kill His Friend.

WANTED TO SECURE MONEY.

The Trial of Harry Pyle for the Killing of Edward Morris is on in the District Court—Evidence of the State Concluded.

At an early hour yesterday morning an attempted murder was reported to the police. It occurred during the night in the tent settlement which has sprung up along Monument creek. The police were looking for the criminal yesterday, and have notified the officers in adjoining towns. The facts in the case as reported to the police are as follows: It seems that a man named John W. Richman came here from western Kansas several weeks ago with his brother-in-law, and joined the camp in the bottoms. They secured a job with their teams freighting to Cripple Creek. A man named F. T. Weesner came to them and asked for a job. He agreed to freight to camp for his board, and was taken in. They went to camp for a time, but Richman heard that a carload of hay had arrived from his ranch, and he started for the Springs. Weesner again asked to accompany him, and permission was granted. Upon arrival here he failed to secure a job and Richman allowed him to share his bed and food. These two men slept in the open air upon a mattress placed upon a pile of hay, while Richman's brother-in-law slept in a small tent.

Wednesday night Richman went to the Salvation Army hall, and upon his return the other two men had gone to bed. Weesner was not asleep, however, and passed some remark about the weather. Richman went to bed and placed his pocketbook, containing $16 in cash, a certificate of deposit for $50 and another for $25, under the edge of the mattress. He afterward concluded to move it, and quietly dropped it into one of his boots, which were lying by his side. He then dropped off to sleep and knew nothing more until he was awakened by a terrible pain in his head and found himself covered with blood. The mattress and pillow were in the same condition. Weesner was missing, but he left his coat, vest, hat and shoes. Richman got up, staggered to the tent, and aroused his brother-in-law. It was then 1:30 a. m. The injured man's head was washed and bandaged. An examination of the wound showed a bad cut directly in the center of the head on the top, but no fracture had been made.

The theory is that Weesner was aware that the man who had so freely given him to eat and sleep had money in his clothes and after watching him for several nights had seen him place his money under his pillow each time. He then planned his cowardly and treacherous work, and made an attempt to carry it out. After striking Richman the blow on the head with the flat side of an ax, he evidently looked for the money and failing to find it concluded that the brother-in-law had it in the tent. He then went to the northwest corner of the tent—in which corner the man was sleeping—and cut a hole three inches long in order to ascertain exactly the position of the sleeper. His evident intention was to kill this man also, provided he could be silenced without Weesner entering the tent. While at his work Richman became aroused and the villain ran away. He was traced to Colorado City, and is believed to be in hiding in the foothills.

In the pockets of the coat left by Weesner were letters addressed to Richman which showed conclusively that Weesner had been securing mail addressed to his benefactor. One letter was from Seidomridge & Sons, and was in reference to a deal for baled hay. After securing this letter Weesner went to Seidomridge & Sons and represented himself as being Richman, and endeavored to secure a cash advance on a car load of hay. In this he also failed.

PYLE'S TRIAL.

A Murder Case in the First Division of Court.

In the first division of the district court yesterday the trial of Harry H. Pyle, charged with the murder of Edward Morris in a Manitou saloon last February, was begun. The trial occupied most of the day, and at the adjournment of court the evidence for the people had been concluded. The morning was largely taken up in securing the jury, and as finally selected it is as follows: R. W. Hemenway, A. R. Riel, C. M. Drury, F. L. Rouse, H. J. Cocks, Henry Templeton, Harry Johnson, Put Dingles, M. M. Sinton, Daniel Nevitt, S. P. Bishop, Robert Knowles.

District Attorney Blackmer is prosecuting and J. Reid Crowell defending. There is considerable interest in the case, and the court room was full of people. Pyle was the bar-tender in the old Paulson saloon, and during a row that occurred over the payment for drinks he struck Morris with some kind of a club on the head. Morris was brought to the county hospital, where he died two days after.

The evidence of the physicians who made the autopsy was taken yesterday, showing that death occurred from the blow. The other witnesses were those present at the time the blow was struck. Among these were Mr. McLaughlin, Al. Bowers, and a Mr. Sink. The testimony was practically the same, with the exception as to the talk that passed between the men.

The evidence for the people closed last evening, and the case for the defendant will be presented this morning. From the questions asked it appears that the defense will be that Pyle was afraid his life was in danger, by showing that Morris had threatened him before.

ON THE CUT.

Colorado Springs Has the First Team in the State.

The second day's shoot of the Colorado State Fish and Game association yesterday was very successful. There was quite a large crowd of spectators present. Ten regular events were shot off, besides quite a number of special shoots. The principal event of the day was the club shoot, which occurred in the afternoon. Only two clubs participated, being those from Colorado Springs and Pueblo. The Pueblo club had three teams in the field, of three men each. The Colorado Springs club had only one team of three. The contest was twenty unknown angles and five pairs, a possible thirty. The result was as follows: Pueblo, first team—L. G. Morse 26, Bellville 19, Funk 24.

Pueblo second team—Chubbuck 17, Hancock 23, Airgood 22.

Pueblo third team—West 21, Sherman 22, Killen 17.

Colorado Springs—Macafree 26, Lawton 25, Webster 22.

The Colorado Springs men having the highest average hold the handsome Salida cup which was given to the association at the meeting in Salida six years ago. They will hold the cup for a year.

Last evening the Fish and Game association held their annual meeting at their headquarters in the Antlers hotel. Officers were selected as follows: C. L. Funk, of Pueblo, president; A. J. Lawton, of Colorado Springs, first vice president; Allen Mermod, of Canon City, second vice president; W. L. Thomas, of Leadville, secretary; C. L. Bellville, of Pueblo, treasurer; W. L. Thomas, of Leadville, game warden.

At the meeting rules were adopted controlling the shoot for the club badge. This is a handsome badge which will be given to the club champion. It can be contested for at any time by challenge, and the member who wins it three times at annual tournament becomes its owner. The tournament closes today, after a very pleasant and successful meeting.

The Palo Alto Club.

Yesterday afternoon the gentlemen who are interested in organizing the Palo Alto Driving club at Roswell Park held a meeting at the office of Ex. W. S. Stratton. The object of the meeting was to complete the organization, which was done. The following officers were elected: President, W. S. Stratton; first vice president, James F. Burns; second vice-president, Judge Gunnell, secretary, C. S. Sprague; treasurer, Charles H. White. Committees were appointed to take charge of the various works, and it is proposed to push the club right along. Bids are in for the construction of the new $10,000 club house, and it is hoped to let the contract very soon. Five thousand dollars of the money needed has already been subscribed and the balance

Hamilton is Coming.

Mr. D. C. Bloss, the trainer who has made a big reputation the past year for Hamilton and the Syracuse company, was in the city yesterday. Shafer's visit was for the purpose of arranging to bring Hamilton and a number of the other crack Denver riders here for the race meet the first week in June. He completed his arrangements yesterday. Among the other riders whom he will bring here are Swanbrough, Connabear, Stone, McKay and perhaps others. Hamilton is to go a mile against time, probably on Tuesday, June 2d. He is also entered in the five-mile and other handicaps, and the open mile. It is thought that Hamilton will be able to make a new record, and give our new track a big send-off. It is probable that an excursion of the Denver wheelmen will come here for the meet. Mr. Shafer will take charge of E. J. Smith of this city and train him for the races. Smith goes to Denver to-day to begin training. Mr. Shafer says that the match race between Hamilton and Hackenburger, which occurs in Denver about the middle of June, will be the most important racing event that has ever taken place in the West. Big money is already posted on the men.

Hypnotism at the Opera House.

Last evening Gunning, the hypnotist who has been making a sensation in Denver lately, appeared at the Opera House. He had a good-sized audience, and kept them well entertained for the evening. After explaining more or less regarding hypnotism, Gunning called for volunteers to come on the stage. None of the citizens seemed to care about it excepting five members of the juvenile population, and some of the stage hands. One young man went on the stage, but he was evidently a trained hypnotic subject, and it was with him that the remarkable feats were performed. The young fellows on the stage were put through all sorts of antics. They apparently saw snakes, grew rigid, or plucked berries, as told by the hypnotist.

The startling feature of the performance was with the young man. A large rock was brought on the stage which it took four or five men to lift. Gunning, after a few passes over the young fellow's body, had him stiff and rigid. His neck was then placed on the back of one chair and his feet on another. The men lifted the stone and placed it on his body, where it was supported. A man then took a sledge and struck the rock in an attempt to break it. By a few passes Gunning had his man apparently in a normal condition again.

The latter part of the show is certainly interesting, and well worth seeing. Gunning will be at the Opera House again this evening.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.

A Hotel Man Who Made Free With a Guest's Baggage.

Denver, May 21.—Last Tuesday night Prof. Paul Ricker and wife of Olympia, Wash., arrived in this city and registered at the Grand Central hotel, near the depot. On the following day in settling the bill a dispute occurred, and the proprietor became enraged to such an extent that he snatched a small satchel belonging to Mrs. Ricker and attempted to throw it over the counter. It flew out of the door instead, and broke open on the sidewalk, scattering the contents over the pavement. In the satchel Mrs. Ricker states were jewels and money to a value exceeding $2,000, and nothing of value was recovered, some one whom Ricker thinks was a confederate of the hotel man having escaped with the property.

This afternoon W. H. Van Horn, the proprietor, was arrested upon a charge of grand larceny.

Prof. Ricker was formerly assistant State geologist of California, and is seeking a new home in Colorado.

HOW IT WORKS SOMETIMES.

This Man Saved Ten Cents and Got More Gas Tube.

A man with a bundle under his arm made his way to the gas and oil stove counter in one of the big department stores the other day and addressed the young woman in charge:

"Here is a 10 foot piece of flexible gaspipe I got from you last Thursday," he said. "I would like to exchange it for a longer one and pay the difference."

"There's only one longer size in stock," she replied, "and it's only two feet longer. What did you have to pay for this?"

"Seven cents a foot."

"Well, it's 3 cents cheaper now. We reduced the price this morning."

"Then a 12 foot piece would be only 63 cents?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I ought to pay the 10 cents' difference just the same. All I want is"

"That's all right. Just take it to the exchange department on the next floor, and they'll give you an exchange check."

The customer followed directions.

"I want to change this piece of flexible gaspipe for a longer one," he said to the young woman behind the counter, "and I have been sent to you."

"What did you pay for it?" she asked.

"Seventy cents, but I bought it last Thursday, and the price has been reduced since then. I only want"

"That's all right. Name, please?"

He gave his name.

"Address, please?"

And he gave his address.

"Here is your exchange check."

"But this calls for 70 cents, and I'm only really entitled to"

"Take it back to the department where you got it, and the young lady will make the exchange for you."

He took it back.

The saleslgirl at the gaspipe counter wrapped up the 12 foot piece and sent the two slips of paper to the cashier.

Ten cents came back.

"Here is your gaspipe," she said, "and here is the change."

"But I don't"

"Are you waited on, lady?"

He took the 10 cents and made his devious way out of the building more deeply impressed with the inexplicable mysteries of the department store exchange system than he had ever been before. Chicago Tribune.

Heard by Could Talk.

Mamma and baby returned from a walk. "Oh," says mamma to her husband, "such good news! Baby talks. He has just said his first word."

"Really?"

"Yes, just now, we were in the zoological gardens, standing before the monkey cage, when baby cried out, 'Look at papa!'" Pittsburg Bulletin.

Mines, Stocks, Investments

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, May 21.—The downward tendency which set in yesterday was still apparent this morning, and another fraction was lopped off the price of a great many stocks. Trading was better distributed, although the falling off in some of the favorites is quite marked. In the listed stocks the principal features were Pharmacist, Cripple Creek Gold Exploration, Cripple Creek Consolidated and Mollie Gibson. Pharmacist made its initial transfer at 6¾, a loss from yesterday's last sale of ¾. Liberal offerings sent it to 6½, and later down to 6¼, when a slight recovery took place at the close to 6¾, with total sales of 8000 shares. Cripple Creek Consolidated was dealt in to the extent of 6700 shares at 13½, a loss from yesterday of ¾. Cripple Creek Gold Exploration had one sale of 20,000 at 12½. The first sale in Portland was at 1.77, a gain of five cents from the preceding day, and the second 500 shares went at 1.70, and the third and concluding transaction brought 1.72½. In the silvers Argentum opened ⅛ lower, and during the call went to and closed at 5½. Mollie Gibson was somewhat of a conundrum, opening at 63 and closing at 63½, keeping the talent guessing as to what some of their colleagues were after. In the unlisted shares, Squaw Mountain Tunnel was the heaviest seller, 13,000 shares going at 2, while Vanity Fair was a close second in the matter of sales. It sold for 10,000 shares, at $6.50 per thousand. Anchoria had its first sale for some time, and brought the high price of $2 for 1200 shares. Dante was up a little, and Colorado City and Manitou remained unchanged. The market closed irregular and somewhat feverish.

Matched at Last.

The much-talked-of baseball game between the members of the Colorado Springs Mining Stock Exchange and members of the Board of Trade will come off next Wednesday. That it will be a hot game goes without saying, both exchanges having some very good talent. Both sides will have plenty of admirers who will proceed to "root" in such a fashion that the College boys will blush with envy when they remember their own attempts to "root." The proceeds of the game will go to the Pearsons fund of Colorado College. The M. S. A. accepted the Board of Trade's challenge yesterday.

Two New Companies.

Among the companies recently organized for mining purposes are the Shurr Gold Mining company and the Holton Gold Mining company. The former is backed by Chicago and Cleveland capitalists who comprise its directory. The officers are: H. A. Callan, president; L. C. Marley, vice president and treasurer; H. F. Deverell, secretary and T. E. Shurr, general manager. The company owns 160 acres of patented land northeast of Green Mountain Falls, which they are now developing by a tunnel, also some 13 claims at West Creek. The tunnel at Green Mountain Falls is in 120 feet and is said to have some excellent looking fluorine stained quartz. The company has plenty of funds to develop all of their properties with.

The Holton company is mostly owned by Colorado City people among whom are: W. A. Marshall, A. A. Stokes, I. N. Marshall and F. G. Moore. The Holton people have ten claims at Cripple Creek more or less developed.

The Lillie.

Twelve tons of screenings were shipped on Tuesday last to the smelter at Pueblo from the Bartholomew lease on the Lillie on Bull hill. The stuff will go over $40 per ton. The lessees have just started a crosscut from the bottom of the shaft and hope to catch the new Vindicator vein about 30 feet from the shaft.

Been Buying Arcadia.

From a reliable authority it is learned that a majority of the stock of the Arcadia company has been quietly corralled by three well known mining men of this city. It is stated that the buying has been going on quietly for the past two weeks, and that any payments on property falling due will be promptly met.

Got Five Acres More.

The Colorado-Philadelphia Reduction company, which is now engaged in putting up a plant at Colorado City, has just bought five acres more land of Fredrika B. Lansmeyer, which adjoins the property which they now own.

From the deed filed it would appear that the land is to be used for brick-making purposes, as the deed specifies that no clay is to be sold for less than 50 cents per ton.

SILVER STATE ANNUAL MEETING.

Company Has No Debts and Valuable Assets.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Silver State company was held on Wednesday afternoon and the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: A. E. Rope, Thomas Gough, H. E. Woods, James Gregg and S. B. Dickens. The number of shares represented was 357,418 out of a total capital stock of 700,000 shares. The company has no debts and has a small cash balance and some treasury stock on hand.

The company in all owns 12 mining claims, three of which—the Monday, Modoc and Alice E. are patented and comprise about 20 acres. The Monday is located just above the C. O. D. mine, and the Modoc and Alice are in close proximity. The Monday is now being worked under bond and lease for $30,000, which expires next October. The lessees on this property are sinking on what is thought to be an extension of the C. O. D. vein. The other nine claims are located on Mineral hill and Cow mountain, but have not had sufficient work performed upon them to secure patents. The company expects to save a good portion of them when patents are eventually applied for.

GREAT STRIKE IN THE WELDEN.

The Orion Ore Chute Tapped at Six-Hundred Feet.

A strike has been made in the Welden in Leadville which will considerably transform the character of that mine. Heretofore the property has been shipping silver iron ore to the extent of 60 tons per day. While this was being done the owners have been seeking the Orion ore chute, which was supposed to extend down into the midst of the town. The Welden is located near Second street and only two blocks from Harrison avenue, and the theory of the extension of the chute was proven a day or two ago when silver ore running from 800 to 1300 ounces was discovered at a depth of about 600 feet. The owners of the Welden are Dennis Sheedy, C. B. Kountze, W. K. Burchinell, P. W. Breene and A. J. Schiessinger. (Republican.

GENUINE BOOM AT APEX.

Crowds Pouring In and Accomodations Overtaxed.

Pine Creek, Colo., May 21.—The town of Apex is rapidly being built up and there are several stores, hotels and cabins going up at a rapid rate. Main street is a charged place, being now full of teams and wagons, hauling timber for building purposes, and also lined with people. Newcomers are arriving daily and the stream of travel between Black Hawk, Central City and Pine creek is increasing. Hacks come in each day loaded down to the guards, and many are walking in. The weather continues fine and there is not a particle of snow to be seen in the district. The camp is feeling sorely the lack of accommodations for the new arrivals, as the hotels are overcrowded and many parties have had to go to camping out, or else try and bunk with some lone miner, or, more likely, have to sleep in the saloons during the night. There is a big demand for offices for use of real estate and mining brokers. Ex-Governor D. H. Waite came in this week and is so favorably impressed with the camp that he intends to return next week after settling his business affairs in Denver, and locate in the district. He intends to open a real estate and broker's office with F. H. Hosmer, formerly State boiler inspector, and work has been already commenced on the office. He will give a lecture to-night in the town hall and will speak on the economical and labor questions, and what is necessary for the good of the country. Many professional and business men are rriving and a good many West Creek parties have lately arrived who intend to locate. It is reported that ex-Sheriff Weber of Denver will bring up eight carloads of personal effects from West Creek and will start up a big place in town. S. B. Hardy of Denver arrived to-day and is looking at his Denver Boy and other properties. M. M. House is the first attorney to locate here and he hails from Nebraska. Machinery was hauled up here this morning from Black Hawk, which will be put up on the Alaska group in Black canon. Messrs. Gray & Lawrence passed through here on Monday, and intend doing considerable work on the above property during the coming summer. A pumping plant will be put on the Train Dispatcher at an early date, as they are troubled with water. H. L. Carr is in Denver and will purchase a plant of machinery from Stamboul.

PURSUING THE WORK.

West Creek Claim Holders by No Means Discouraged.

West Creek, Colo., May 21.—Robert Christie, secretary of the Argus Mining company, is up from Colorado Springs today and arranged for the continuance of work on the Cumberland No. 1. The present depth of 65 feet will be increased as rapidly as possible.

James Kelly & Bro. of Ohio have completed arrangements to put down a 50-foot shaft on the El Paso lead northeast of Pemberton.

Joe Crosby, president of the Buella Mining company, was in the district yesterday and put the men to work again on the Black Diamond shaft in the Lime belt. The present depth of 25 feet will be increased to 75, and, if the vein is not uncovered at that distance drifting will be commenced.

The B. & M. shaft has reached a depth of 120 feet and the indications are very encouraging for the owners, who will continue the work throughout the season.

August Rische returned from Denver to-day prepared to go on with the work on his promising mining property near Signal Butte. The tests just had by Mr. Rische have greatly encouraged his people.

CHEMICAL MILLS NEEDED.

Plenty of Rich but Refractory Ore in Eagle County.

Red Cliff, Colo., May 21.—The recent visit to Red Cliff and Gilman of a mining expert from Denver, who examined the large bodies of low grade sulphide ore already exposed in Battle mountain minds, with the object of putting in a large mill and treating them on the ground by a chemical process, has revived interest in these phases of the mining condition of the district.

Notwithstanding the depressed condition of mining, there are at present, and have been during the winter, fully a dozen mines in Battle mountain district that are being worked and that ship regularly. But there are many times this number in which immense bodies of low grade sulphide ore is already exposed that are idle and have been so for a long time on account of transportation and smelter charges. The rapid strides made during the past two years in the treatment of this character of ores by the cyanide and other chemical-electrical processes, can, without doubt, be applied with profit to several localities in Eagle county. In each of the Holy Cross, Battle mountain and Fulford districts there is enough ore already exposed and developed to keep an immense mill in operation day and night, there is not, nor has there been, a plant of this character ever erected in Eagle county. It has been satisfactorily demonstrated during the last two years that the refractory ores of Holy Cross, large veins of which have lain idle since the failure of the old-fashioned stamp mill to profitably treat them several years ago can be profitably treated by the cyanide process. The question of the quantity of ore supply is entirely eliminated from the problem when investors begin figuring on the erection of milling plants in any of these districts. By the erection of a large custom mill for the treatment of the Holy Cross product many mine owners of limited means, who have been forced to see their property idle for years on account of transportation and smelter charges, could open their workings and begin at once stoping in ore. The natural advantages of abundant timber and water are of the best, and where roads do not already exist they are easily obtained. What is true of one of these districts is true of the other.

Current Notes.

A station for the seventh level in the new shaft of the Independence is now being cut. The shaft is not on the vein.

In cross-cutting the Golconda has run into a 5 inch streak of $20 quartz at a depth of 102 feet. The cut is to be continued eastward.

The seat on the old Exchange formerly held by Mr. L. V. Eoff has been transferred to Mr. L. C. Nicholas, another partner of the firm.

The new machinery for the Lucky Gus is in place and a shaft house is now being built around it. Production will increase from now on.

Clabe Jones, who is working the Northeastern on a bond and lease, expects to cut a vein soon in a 50-foot drift from the bottom of a 60-foot shaft.

The Finance company, which is operating a lease on the Gladstone from the Golden Hope company, will begin sinking next week in the 130-foot shaft.

The Coriolanus, on Squaw mountain, is meeting with better prospects every day. The vein of porphyritic granite at the bottom of the shaft is growing thicker and richer as it is followed.

Patent Attorney L. E. Sherman yesterday filed two adverse suits in the District Court, one for the Santa Rosa Gold Mining company and the other for the St. Paul Gold Mining and Tunnel company.

A large shipment of rich ore is ready to send out from the Grouse. Two shipments are being sent out each month. The mine is making money for the lessees and will soon be in shape for a heavier output.

Hall & Murphy are going after larger quantities of rich mineral, such as they have so successfully opened in their lease on the Ironclad. A new level has been started at 210 feet and from this they will drift into the ore chute.

At a depth of 200 feet a new level has been started in the Ruble. A consignment of twenty tons of ore was sent to the Beaver Park mill last week and a large shipment of high grade ore is now being prepared to send to the smelter.

The latest strike is reported from Carlin gulch, where Mr. Wiley has opened a phonolite dike which gives an $8 assay across a 21-foot face. A dozen or more prospectors are actively engaged in the search for wealth in this location.

A contract for 300 feet of development work has been let by Lindsay and Smith of Red Cloud, Neb. The work is to be done on a group of claims which these gentlemen recently acquired in Long Hunger gulch southwest of Cripple Creek.

The John Carrington lease on the Sheriff claim, on the southwest slope of Raven hill, has made a strike of considerable importance this week. A 6-foot vein of ore, averaging $30 per ton was uncovered yesterday and liberal shipments will soon be made.

The tunnel recently started by the Cripple Creek Consolidated company to prospect the May Queen has penetrated Womack hill for a distance of 150 feet and is being pushed with all possible speed in search of the extension of the Lucky Will.

The Pueblo Belle, located between Straub and Little Bull, near Wilson creek, gives evidence of its prosperity by the introduction of machinery and the erection of a big shaft house. It is over 100 feet in depth and the ore gives $16 to $18 per ton.

Lessees Liggett and Owens are pushing development work at the Garfield-Grouse. A new level is being started at 200 feet. A large quantity of good ore has been opened in other levels and when the management is good and ready it will make a telling record on output.

E. J. Argenbright has just leased the Hale & Holmes, Edith May, Lucetta and Adelaide and will push the development work in a few days. The Lucetta, is to be made the starting point for an 800-foot tunnel in Straub. All the claims are developed to some extent.

Two miles west of Cripple Creek in French gulch, Ballard and Hall are developing a group of claims through a tunnel and in a few feet of work have opened a fine vein of fluorine quartz from which assays as high as $20 have been obtained. There is a noticeable improvement as depth is gained.

A new pump for the 135-foot shaft on the Abe Lincoln in Poverty gulch arrived to-day. Tutt & Penrose have resumed work on their lease on a portion of the ground and are putting a steam plant over their 100-foot shaft. They are getting out ore from the development in progress.

The Irish Mollie, on Gold hill, adjoining the Keystone is making rapid developments with gratifying results. Drifts have been run forty-five feet in each direction and cross-cutting has been started for a parallel vein. The indications are that pay mineral in quantity will soon be located.

Work on the extension of the Hoosier vein has started since that property began to make a shipper. N. H. Tone has started a new shaft on the Little Don property. The Lead Rock is worked under lease and the 90-foot shaft sunk in the phonolite dyke has recently been equipped with a whim.

The Phonolite Deep Mining and Tunnel company let a contract yesterday for driving the tunnel an additional 450 feet into Cow mountain. The ore is a large double track and has advanced fifty feet into the hill. It is one of the big and substantial enterprises in that part of the camp and important results are looked for as work advances.

The Squaw Mountain tunnel is now in a distance of 1400 feet. At 750 feet a winze was sunk 35 feet at the bottom of which there is a two-foot vein of high grade ore. Work has for the present been stopped on account of water that was encountered, but new machinery has been contracted for to handle this and work will be resumed as soon as it is put in place.

C. F. Bryant is working the south end of the Lottie on Bull hill under lease granted by W. S. Stratton, and having 14 months yet to run. He has a shaft down 90 feet and is getting rich ore in fair quantity from a six pay streak that ranges from four to ten inches in width. His last shipment, first-class and screenings, ran $60 a ton. A high-grade shipment is almost ready.

The West Creek Times contains the following mining item: William Wanner, better known as "Black Bill," a thorough, practical miner of thirty years experience, made a thorough examination of the Last Chance this week. He says it is a mine and offered the owner, Nick Miller, $3000 cash for one year's lease on the property and agreed to spend $10,000 in development work in that time, the offer was refused. He also looked at the Proctor Nott and pronounced it next to the Last Chance, the best mining proposition he had seen in the district. The Last Chance is being worked by three shifts and the vein matter is being racked for shipment. About thirty-five sacks being now ready.

A strike of good proportions was made Sunday by J. Rattenway, who is working a lease on the Guess on Squaw mountain. In a 25-foot cross-cut from the bottom of a 60-foot shaft an eight-inch streak of decomposed porphyry was found, which was thoroughly tested and found to contain $200 to the ton. The streak is a continuation of the vein which was cut by the shaft at a depth of 30 feet, and from which three tons of ore was shipped that returned $32 to the ton.

Superintendent J. F. Cypher, at the Jefferson mine on the Mattie L., reports satisfactory progress in the work of development and sinking the shaft which was decided upon since the new machinery started about a week ago. The shaft is to be sunk for a fourth level which will put it to a depth of 400 feet. At 250 feet below the surface a connection is being run with the Geneva shaft to the north. This will give improved ventilation and prospect the ground at the same time. A large lot of new ground will be opened in the next few weeks when shipments will be much enlarged upon.

A new lease has just been closed up by the Damon company on a block of ground on the Maud S., one of the group of claims owned by the company on Bull hill. R. M. Fuller is the lessee and he has begun active work prospecting the surface for a big vein that is known to cross the ground. Large chunks of rich float are found near the surface and the fact that the wash is deep makes the mineral hard to find in place. Four sets of lessees are now pushing work on different portions of the company's ground and two of these have opened well-defined veins and obtained some ore that assays pay.

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, May 21.—Trading at the Board this morning was more active and better distributed than for some time past. Although several stocks lost slightly from yesterday's prices, others made gains which fully counteracted any losses sustained. In the shipping mine list, Garfield, Grouse, Pharmacist, and Gold and Globe were the best traders. The first named figured for 7000 shares at from 3¾ to 3¾. Pharmacist was down somewhat, and had sales of 5000 shares at 6¾ to 6¼. Gold and Globe scored an advance and sold from 21¾ to 22¼ for 2000 shares. The heaviest seller in the prospective mines was Squaw Mountain Tunnel which had sales of 7000 shares at from 3 to 3¼. Alamo, Mutual and Fanny Rawlings were also good sellers. In the prospects, Crescent, Golden Treasure and Maggie Reeves were the favorites, but at no particular change in price. The market closed weak.

Economical Australian Gold Mining.

The Occidental Gold Mining company, Cobar, N. S. W., keeps itself going on ore of excedingly low grade. During the half year ended Feb. 15, 3855 tons of stone were mined and crushed for a yield of 561 ounces of gold, valued at £2,267 15s. 8d., equal to 3 dwt. and a fraction or 12s. 6d. per ton. Owing to the dryness of the season the battery lost two months' crushing, but the tanks have been enlarged, and the company have now the best water supply in the district. The Occidental company have made and distributed profits on 3 dwt. ore, the mine being one of the most economically managed concerns in the colony; but the margin is so small as to constitute a handicap to progressive work. With increased battery power—the goal the directors are always aiming at but never seem able to reach—an improvement could be effected even upon the present small expenses, and the divisible profit would be a regular and not an intermittent occurrence. Occidental scrip is listed by the Sydney Exchange, and has business at about 1s. 8d.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

WEEKLY LETTER EXTRACTS.

The following extracts are taken from the weekly letter of Messrs. Doubleday, Hope & Co:

"The market this week closes firm and active. Fair trading took place during the early part of the week, improving considerably at the close, there being more business transacted Friday and Saturday than for some time past. Last week we mentioned Portland, Anaconda, Isabella, Union, Gold Standard, Ida May, Gould, Ben Hur and Fanny Rawlings as being good stocks to buy, nearly all of these have made an advance in price, and we still consider that they will show profits if purchased at their present quotations. For Gold Standard we have a particular preference, as we think that this stock selling at 2 cents is below its true value. The Portland company paying a 1 cent dividend this month has been the means of strengthening the stock. We see no reason why this dividend should not be increased to 2 cents just as soon as the company resumes its usual shipments.

"A good deal of harm has been done Cripple Creek lately by promoters, who have been visiting the camp and buying any sort of prospects for the purpose of incorporating companies and selling the stock East at above its value. If investors would buy only stocks of first class companies listed on our Exchange here, they would then obtain good value for their money, and confidence would soon be permanently established in the camp. At all events, a number of impositions can be prevented if those intending to buy Cripple Creek stocks will, before doing so, make inquiries of Mr. D. V. Donaldson, secretary of the Colorado Springs Mining Stock association, as to the merits of the property and the standing of the officers connected with the company.

"New companies are becoming dividend payers, which will without doubt, give confidence to investors. The latest to be added to the list is the Elkton Consolidated. At a meeting of the directors, held this week, it was decided to pay a dividend of 1 cent per share on May 25. The amount that will be distributed will be $10,000, being 1 cent per share on the outstanding stock of the company. The dividend payers of the camp being widely separated from one another proves clearly that the paying district is not a limited one. It is true that the number of companies now paying dividends is not very large, but the indications are that before the close of the present year several more will be added to the list. During the past two weeks more than $100,000 has been paid in dividends by Cripple Creek companies, and if to this were added the profits of lessees and private owners of mines, the amount would show a considerable increase."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 21.—Money on call has been easy at 2@2½ per cent., last loan at 2½, and closing offered at 2½. Prime mercantile paper 6@6½. Bar silver 69¾. Mexican dollars 53. Sterling exchange very firm, with actual business in bankers bills at $4.87¼@4.87½ for 60 days and $4.88@4.88¼ for demand. Posted rates $4.88@4.89. Commercial bills $4.86½@4.87¼. Government bonds firm. State bonds dull. Railroad bonds higher. Silver at the board was quiet.

The manner in which the stock market opened this morning was disappointing to the general run of traders, who were confident that the spurt in Sugar just previous to the close of business would be followed by a further advance this morning. The stock instead of moving up, ran off rapidly from 122¾ to 121¾. This movement, however, had no appreciable influence on the general list, which after yielding fractionally developed considerable strength. Manhattan was an exception, selling off nearly a point to 109¾, while Metropolitan Traction advanced as much, rising to 109¾, the highest price for some time. As the day wore along the bulls displayed increased confidence and bid up prices all along the line. The operation was not a difficult one, because of the comparatively large outstanding short interest. Rumors gained circulation that a statement would be made by the foremost Republican candidate, in which he declares himself to be in favor of the gold standard. On this there were considerable purchases to cover. Total sale were 143,100 shares. Speculation closed dull to-day.

Bonds were firmer and higher. Sales footed up $1,035,000.

In the government bonds, $1,000 coupon 5's brought 111¾.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 21.—The State of Michigan has become an interesting and active factor in the wheat market. Yesterday and to-day the speculative eye was watching the developments in that direction and traders were prepared to take their inspiration from the news received therefrom. Damage reports have been plentiful, but whether the trouble was general or whether it was confined to spots, the future must determine. The Hessian Fly is the cause of the trouble, but many persons qualified to speak claim that this insect works erratically and its damage is entirely of a local character. However, the price of wheat was improved to-day by he reports. The Cincinnati Price Current issued a rather bullish summary of wheat crop conditions for the week. Receipts at Chicago were 3 cars and 41,611 bushels were taken from store. The Northwest had 274 cars against 253 last Thursday and 153 a year ago. Liverpool cables were up ¾ pence in sympathy with the yesterday strength of American markets. About noon the market gave evidence of weakness and from that time until the close, prices declined steadily. Early buyers sold out and "short" sellers assumed an aggressive attitude. Berlin and Paris cables were higher. Antwerp was unchanged. Atlantic seaboard clearances were fair at 272,515 bushels. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 6 cars.

Corn—There was nothing new to report in corn. The market was dull and the tone mostly a sympathetic one. Receipts were light at 172 cars, and the output from store heavy at 330,234 bushels, but these facts attract no attention in the face of the knowledge that the country is full of corn, which farmers have held back in the vain hope of better prices. Liverpool cables were steady. The Cincinnati Price Current reported the outlook for the corn crop encouraging. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 240 cars.

Oats—What was true of corn was applicable to oats. The market was dull and featureless, and the motion of prices was governed by that of wheat. Receipts were 185 cars, and 222,514 bushels were taken from store. Export clearances were 61,350 bushels. The Cincinnati Price Current summary made reference to an encouraging outlook for the oat crop. July oats closed ¼@¾ under yesterday. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 240 cars.

CLOSING PRICES.

Wheat—68¾, July 67¾@68, Sept. 61¾.
Corn—May 21¾@21¾, July 29¾@29¾, Sept. 26¾.
Oats May 18¾, July 19¼, Sept. 19¾@19¾.
Pork—July $7.35, Sept. $7.55.
Lard—July $4.34, Sept. $4.62½.
Ribs, July $3.67½, Sept. $4.02½.

Chicago Live Stock.

Union Stockyards, Ill., May 21. Cattle—Receipts, 9,000. Fancy beeves, $4.60@4.80; feeders, $3.65@3.85; common to choice stockers, $2.50@3.55; cows and heifers, extra, $3.00@4.00; Texas grass steers, $2.60@2.60; Texas fed steers, $3.15@3.90. Other prices unchanged.

Hogs—Receipts, 33,000. Heavy packing and shipping lots, $3.15@3.35; common to choice mixed, $3.15@3.37½; choice assorted, $3.40@3.50; light, $3.30@3.45; pigs, $2.50@3.40.

Sheep—Receipts, 10,000. Inferior to choice, $2.00@4.00; lambs, $3.00@5.15.

Washington, May 21.—For Colorado, partly cloudy weather; warmer in northern portion; easterly to southerly winds.

Dave Griffin, driver of the hook and ladder wagon, was kicked in the hip by one of the horses yesterday, and is laid up.

The McClintock case, for securing goods under false pretenses, will come up in Justice Saxton's court this morning.

A suit for divorce was filed in the county court yesterday by Thomas Kieran from Anna C. Kieran, charging cruelty and adultery.

The well-known Bob Mullen has recently been appointed police judge at Cripple Creek, and is dispensing justice with neatness and dispatch.

Stated communication of El Paso lodge No. 13, A. F. & A. M., this evening at 8 o'clock sharp. Visiting members are cordially invited to attend.

There will be a meeting at the Board of Trade rooms this evening at 8 o'clock in the interest of the local ball team. There should be a good attendance.

Frank McCauley, the decorator at 104 South Tejon street, has taken a force of men to Green Mountain Falls, where he has a contract to do considerable work this spring.

The social which was to have been given to-night at the Baptist church by the Junior Endeavor society of that church has been postponed to Thursday evening, May 28th.

Mr. W. H. Simpson, of the advertising department of the Santa Fe, is in the city [illegible] book on the Colorado resorts by his road. Colorado Springs is to have a conspicuous part in the book.

Mr. J. K. Sweeney of Longmont is in the city with the object of trying to interest citizens in the establishment of a flouring mill here. Mr. Sweeney was a former resident here. After doing what he can here, Mr. Sweeney will also visit Pueblo.

Wednesday evening Mr. R. R. Taylor had his bicycle stolen, and notice was sent throughout the state. Yesterday word came that the thief had been taken at Littleton. Last evening Officer Atkinson went to Littleton to bring the thief back here.

A meeting of the Cripple Creek relief committee is called for 5 o'clock this afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms, second story of the Burkee block. The meeting is to close up all matters relating to bills contracted and money raised. A full attendance of all members of the committee is requested.

Miss Lisbeth Webb, assisted by her pupils, the Misses Lydia and Anna Eyre, the Misses Mary and Katharine Williamson, and Miss Irwin, will give a piano recital at her studio on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. A pleasant feature of the occasion will be vocal solos by Mrs. H. H. Seldomridge.

The W. R. C. sewing circle will meet this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Dwinell, North Weber street. A full attendance is desired as there is something new on hand. Mrs. Dwinell invites the corps to meet at her house on Sunday evening to march to St. Stephen's church to attend memorial services.

Next Saturday evening the Davenport brothers, who claim to be the sons of one of the Davenports who were famous as mediums in this country forty years ago, are to give an exhibition in the Coliseum. The principal feature will be slate writing, and people are requested to bring their own slates. The admission will be 25 cents.

Mr. R. S. Howland, the distinguished editor of the Providence Journal, perhaps the leading paper of New England, is in the city with his family. They expect to spend the summer here. Mr. Howland is going to Cripple Creek to look up the camp. His paper has done more than almost any paper in the East to make the camp known.

A suit was filed in the county court yesterday by T. F. Clemmons against Wm. L. Hodge, in which the court is asked to appoint a receiver for the Victor Review newspaper. Plaintiff alleges that he and the defendant purchased the plant from Mr. Bollinger and for a time conducted the business, but that for some months he has been shut out from any participation in the business. He asks that the plant be sold and that he be given his share.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

In spite of the pleasant weather crowds of young men are using the rooms of the association every day, many of them from Cripple Creek looking for work. If the citizens of the city have any odd jobs and need men to do them, they can be supplied with men by applying at the rooms.

The Juniors of the association are as they say, "right in it" these days. On next Saturday an outing has been arranged for them to Manitou, where they have the use of the big plunge bath for a part of Saturday afternoon. All members of the Junior department are asked to be on hand at the rooms at 1:30 to take the car. If any should go over in the forenoon they must meet the general secretary at the bath house at 2:30 if they wish to be "in the swim."

Tuesday afternoon next the Juniors give a gymnasium exhibition at the association rooms, beginning at 4:30. The parents and friends of the boys who are interested in the work of the gymnasium are cordially invited to be present. No charge for admission.
